Mariner Snaps Mars Closeups For Telecast

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 6 flew within 2,130 miles of Mars early today, its cameras snapping closeups that a project spokesman promised would be "fascinating."

What the pictures contain was not immediately known but scientists were so sure the quality was excellent that they ordered them displayed on monitors for newsmen as soon as they are received at Jet Propulsion Laboratory starting at 8:36 EDT tonight.

They earlier had planned to study the pictures for 24 hours and then release selected prints.

"We don't know exactly what we will see," a spokesman said, "and some of it may be confusing, but we are sure that many of the pictures will have fascinating details never seen before."

Mariner 6 and a sister spacecraft, Mariner 7, ran into technical problems overnight.

Mariner 6's trouble was minor — failure of a device designed to sense the chemistry of the thin Martian atmosphere.

The extent of Mariner 7's difficulty was not immediately determined. It went silent for several hours but technicians later picked up a weak signal after switching to another antenna. The spacecraft also appeared to be rolling.

"We don't know what the trouble is or whether it will affect Mariner 7's ability to send pictures when it comes within camera range Friday," a spokesman said.

Mariner 6, after telecasting late Wednesday night a series of approach photographs showing that Mars may be as crater-pocked as the moon, made a 17-minute camera run close to the Martian equator shortly after midnight.

Its path was over a band of dark areas thought by some scientists to be vegetation.

Twenty-four pictures were snapped and stored on tape for transmission earthward tonight.

Japanese Man Attacks U.S. Official

TOKYO (AP) — A young Japanese man armed with a knife tried to attack U.S. diplomats at Tokyo International Airport today, but police said it was not clear whether his target was Secretary of State William P. Rogers or Ambassador Armin H. Meyer.

Rogers, Meyer and other U.S. diplomats were at the airport for Rogers' departure for Seoul. All escaped injury, but Meyer was knocked down.

The husky assailant, identified by police as Shigetugu Hamakoka, 21, was disarmed by security guards. Police reported at first that Meyer, 55, was his target. Later police said Hamakoka refused to talk and they believed Rogers may have been his target.

Rogers was in Tokyo for a three-day meeting of U.S. and Japanese cabinet ministers that ended today. Some officials said earlier they were surprised that the conference did not result in any major leftist demonstrations against the United States.

The attack at the airport was swift, and some officials were not aware of it until afterward.

Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi called at the embassy to express his regrets over the incident, which recalled the stabbing in 1964 of U.S. Ambassador Edwin R. Reischauer. A deranged Japanese youngster knifed him in the thigh in the embassy compound.

Brenda Schleich Shows Top Lamb

CHAMPION MARKET LAMB — Brenda Schleich, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Schleich, Williamsport, displayed the lamb, judged champion market lamb, at the Junior Fair Sheep Show held Thursday morning in the judging arena.

Eighteen-year-old Brenda Schleich took top honors in the middleweight division of the Junior Fair Sheep Show's market lamb contest and came back to win Champion Market Lamb Thursday.

The middleweight class also produced the reserve champion market lamb. Steve Bower showed the reserve champion, which finished second to Miss Schleich in both events.

Best Pen of three lambs was won by Rachel Fenstermaker of Williamsport. Second in the event was Scott Cordray.

Following is a list of the results to five places:

Lightweight Lamb — 1. Gary Deerth, 2. Wayne Brown, 3. Elmon Richards, 4. Jeff Voss, 5. Andy Hoffman.

Middleweight Lamb — 1. Brenda Schleich, 2. Steve Bower, 3. Tammy Martin, 4. Ponda Bircher, 5. Billy Dennis.

Heavyweight Lamb — 1. Steve Bower, 2. Becky Cook, 3. Tammy Martin, 4. Wayne Brown, 5. Dave Fraas.

Judge for the event was Ron Guenther. Breeding and showmanship classes will be judged later today.

Midway Chatter

Injuries treated at the Red Cross tent at the fairgrounds on Wednesday were for a little of this and a little of that according to the volunteer nurses.

The sale table at the Fair Flower Show has some very good items. There are some real bargains in African Violets. These are the new type that are German propagated and the flowers won't fall off. You'll find some nice foliage plants. There are also daylilies, Christmas Cactus, Pachysandra and Canterbury Bell plants. These latter were raised from Burpee seed.

Sherry Indestad became the first female driver to rein a harness horse at the Pickaway County Fair Wednesday as she drove Miracle Stone in the first heat of the first race.

Miss Indestad, from Pomeroy, finished second in the heat and fifth in the sixth heat to make the veteran's feel women are here to stay at the track.

Owner of the horse, W. C. Humphrey of Pomeroy, praised Miss Indestad as a trainer and driver, claiming to have had male drivers that couldn't stand up to Miss Indestad's pretty, powdered nose.

Track announcer Roger Huston of Xenia apparently forgot the presence of the opposite sex at the races Wednesday.

As Sherry Indestad entered the track in the first heat of the first race, he told "all gentlemen to parade the track."

Another woman driver participated in the races Wednesday. Janie Irvine, daughter of Don Irvine, Scioto Downs veteran, raced in the third and eighth heats at the track.

Kennedy Returns, Disclaims 1972 Ambitions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is coming back to work—and Democratic strategists already are planning next year's congressional election campaign.

The Massachusetts Democrat was due at his office, and on the Senate floor, today after announcing he will not resign his seat.

Kennedy, in a statement released Wednesday at his Boston office, said he will remain in the Senate, will seek re-election next year and, if he wins, will serve a full six-year term.

That would rule out any 1972 bid for the presidency which his brother, John, won in 1960 and which his brother, Robert, sought in 1968. Both were assassinated.

Edward Kennedy's announcement:

"Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is returning to Washington to resume his duties as United States senator and assistant majority leader.

"He is grateful to the people of Massachusetts for their expressions of confidence and expects to submit his record to them as a candidate for re-election in 1970.

"If re-elected, he will serve out his entire six-year term."

Not all Democrats were certain the disclaimer of 1972 presidential intentions would stick.

"I'm certain Sen. Kennedy was sincere," said Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, "but the party may think otherwise."

If Kennedy is indeed out of the field, it would be cleared for such likely contenders as Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, possibly Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma.

There had been silence but, among politicians, little suspense since Kennedy said in a July 23 television speech he was

Airport Fund Drive Reaches $28,235 Mark

Bill Dennis, manager of the Fayette County Airport, was the speaker at a meeting of the Pickaway County Airport Authority Fund Raising Committee Wednesday at the L-K Restaurant.

During the meeting, Asa Elsea, chairman of the committee announced that contributions now exceeded $28,235.

Dennis outlined the maintenance costs of the landing strip, discussed his operation and sources of income and told of future needs for the strip.

The Fayette County airport manager said that maintenance costs were negligible. He does the mowing and the county engineering department handles snow removal.

Dennis told those present at the meeting that Redman Industries, manufacturers of mobile homes, decided to locate in Washington C. H. only after the airport was promised by county officials.

He reported that he felt a maintenance building was a necessity and also said that he would like to see approach beacon instrumentation for larger aircraft added.

Sources of income at the landing strip include tie-down fees, overnight fees, charter service, sales of gas and lubricants, instruction fees and freight.

Elsea noted that representatives of area civic organizations had been invited to attend the meeting. However, he noted he was disappointed in the attendance.

The fund raising committee has set a goal of $90,000 for purchase of a site on the Charles Kriesel Farm near the Pickaway Ross County Line and for construction of a 4,500 foot runway.

Urge Dame To Stay On

SARK, Channel Islands (AP) — A member of Sark's Parliament proposed Wednesday that the islanders pay more attention to their drinking laws and appoint a policeman so their 85-year-old ruler won't abdicate.

Dame Sibyl Hathaway, whose family has ruled the little island off the coast of France since the 16th century, announced her abdication earlier this week and said she was turning Sark over to the neighboring island of Guernsey.

She said there was too much flouting of the drinking laws and she was tired of calling the police from Guernsey, Sark having no police of its own.

Dame Sibyl's son, who lives in England, said his mother can't abdicate without permission of Queen Elizabeth II, Sark's overlord.

The island has seven square miles, 556 residents, more than 40,000 tourists a year, no cars and no income taxes.

House Eyes Tax Deduction, Boost In Dependent Figure

WASHINGTON (AP) — House tax reformers, working to give average taxpayers a better break, are considering either increasing the 10 per cent standard deduction or upping the $600 personal exemption.

Their decisions on tax relief will complete the broad reform bill scheduled for voting in the House next week.

Although more than half the House membership has expressed interest in raising the exemption, sentiment in the Ways and Means Committee apparently favors revising the standard deduction—which would cost the Treasury much less revenue.

A $100 exemption increase, it was estimated, would reduce tax yield nearly $3 billion, raising the standard deduction from 10 to 14 per cent and the ceiling on it from $1,000 to $1,800 was estimated to cost $1.2 billion.

Meanwhile, the committee has softened somewhat its proposed crackdown on the use of farm losses to reduce investors' nonfarm taxable income and on the use of certain oil industry preferences by well-to-do individuals.

Decisions to slash the oil depletion allowance and related benefits, however, were reaffirmed.

In its final review, the committee decided that only large operators in the farm field should be subjected to a new rule by which the Treasury would recapture special farm loss deductions when the farm property is sold. The rule, it specified, will apply only to persons with $50,000 or more non-farm income and farm losses of at least $25,000.

The committee reaffirmed its plan for a minimum income tax applying to individuals who have more than half their income protected by special deductions or shelters. But it said that in computing income for this purpose, deduction of intangible drilling costs and the excess of depletion over cost would not be considered special preferences.

The committee dropped a previously adopted plan to impose a tax of 10 per cent on some state and municipal bond interest collected by banks and other financial institutions.

U.S. And Japan Reach Accord

TOKYO (AP) — The United States and Japan agreed today that they can overcome their trade problems, and expressed hopes of solving their differences over Okinawa by the time Prime Minister Eisaku Sato visits Washington in November.

Agreement on trade and economic relations between the two nations was contained in a joint communiqué issued at the end of the three-day seventh annual U.S.-Japanese economic conference.

Hopes of setting a definite date for the return of Okinawa to Japan were expressed by Secretary of State William P. Rogers at a joint news conference before he went to Seoul, continuing an Asia-Pacific tour.

Pushes Plan Of Self-Help For Nation

NEW DELHI (AP) — President Nixon arrived in India today for a friendly and tumultuous welcome in 96-degree weather, and then sat down alone with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi to discuss the problems of the world's largest non-Communist nation.

Nixon got off to a good start with his Indian hosts by telling them at the airport that the United States wants to work with them "for the goals you believe are best for India, not our goals, but goals in which we all believe."

The American President also recalled that in 1953 Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, Mrs. Gandhi's father, told him that India wanted "a generation of uninterrupted peace."

"Our major goal now is to succeed in that dream Mr. Nehru had then—a generation of peace for India, Asia and the world," Nixon said.

"We want our generation to be remembered as the generation that set foot on the moon and as the one in which we had uninterrupted peace and justice for man on the earth."

Thousands of friendly Indians cheered the President along his route into the city, but at one point about 400 young demonstrators waved black flags at him and shouted slogans against the Vietnam war.

Ignoring the hecklers, Nixon got out of his limousine and shook hands with cheering persons nearby, then returned to the car and drove on as the demonstrators surged toward him.

Nixon flew to the Indian capital after a three-day visit in Thailand and a side-trip to South Vietnam. India is the fourth stop on a global tour that ends Sunday after more stops in Pakistan, Romania and Britain.

Elyria Residents

To Pay Income Tax

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Elyria residents will begin paying a 1 per cent city income tax Friday after Lorain County Common Pleas Judge LeRoy F. Kelly Wednesday ruled against referendum petitions.

Kelly ruled the petitions, to submit the tax to the voters in November, were invalid because of a verified copy of the income tax ordinance passed by city council May 25 was not filed with the clerk of council.

SARK, Channel Islands (AP) —
A member of Sark's Parliament proposed Wednesday that the islanders pay more attention

Dame Sibyl Hathaway, whose said she was turning Sark over

House Eyes Tax Deduction, Boost In Dependent Figure

WASHINGTON (AP) — House tax reformers, working to give average taxpayers a better break, are considering either increasing the 10 per cent standard deduction or upping the $600 personal exemption.

Their decisions on tax relief will complete the broad reform bill scheduled for voting in the House next week.

Although more than half the House membership has expressed interest in raising the exemption, sentiment in the Ways and Means Committee apparently favors revising the standard deduction—which would cost the Treasury much less revenue.

A $100 exemption increase, it was estimated, would reduce tax yield nearly $3 billion, raising the standard deduction from 10 to 14 per cent and the ceiling on it from $1,000 to $1,800 was estimated to cost $1.2 billion.

Meanwhile, the committee has softened somewhat its proposed crackdown on the use of farm losses to reduce investors' nonfarm taxable income and on the use of certain oil industry preferences by well-to-do individuals.

Decisions to slash the oil depletion allowance and related benefits, however, were reaffirmed.

In its final review, the committee decided that only large operators in the farm field should be subjected to a new rule by which the Treasury would recapture special farm loss deductions when the farm property is sold. The rule, it specified, will apply only to persons with $50,000 or more non-farm income and farm losses of at least $25,000.

The committee reaffirmed its plan for a minimum income tax applying to individuals who have more than half their income protected by special deductions or shelters. But it said that in computing income for this purpose, deduction of intangible drilling costs and the excess of depletion over cost would not be considered special preferences.

The committee dropped a previously adopted plan to impose a tax of 10 per cent on some state and municipal bond interest collected by banks and other financial institutions.

U.S. And Japan Reach Accord

TOKYO (AP) — The United

that they can overcome their trade problems, and expressed hopes of solving their differ-

Agreement on trade and eco-

Hopes of setting a definite date for the return of Okinawa to Japan were expressed by Secretary of State William P.

ence before he went to Seoul, continuing an Asia-Pacific tour.

The impasse over the surtax
most of Wednesday with Democrats standing by their earlier demand for a five-month extension and Republicans remaining firm in their opposition.

After a long series of conferences involving Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and many others, Mansfield apparently obtained the understanding he wanted.

The Democratic leader moved to put aside the Safeguard mis-so the Senate could call up a bill which would be used for the sursidential intentions would stick.

"I'm certain Sen. Kennedy was sincere," said Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, "but the party may think otherwise."

If Kennedy is indeed out of the field, it would be cleared for such likely contenders as Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Sen.
George S. McGovern of South
Dakota, possibly Sen. Fred R.
Tarriss of Oklahoma.

There had been silence but,
among politicians, little suspense sign Kennedy said in a July 25 television speech he was considering resigning his Senate seat because of his involvement in a fatal automobile accident one week earlier.

Kennedy asked the advice of his Massachusetts constituents.
The response was an outpouring of messages, heavily in favor of his continued Senate service.

"So what else is new?" asked George D. Aiken of Vermont, dean of Senate Republicans, after Kennedy announced he would return. "Didn't you expect it?"

"You don't think 30 million
Democrats are going to stand by idly and see another Republican senator come here, do you?" said Aiken.

Most other Republicans were silent. "Should I have a reaction?" said Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen. "I haven't got one."

Democrats welcomed Kennedy's return.

"His decision is good for the country, for Massachusetts, for the Senate and for the Democratic party," said Sen. Harris, the Democratic national chairman.

Harris said he hopes Kennedy will be able to undertake party fund raising missions for the coming congressional campaign.

Vietnam War Lull
Cuts U.S. Losses
To Lower Figure

SAIGON (AP) — The battlefield lull in South Vietnam reduced the total of American combat dead last week to their second lowest level in nine months and cut the reported number of enemy killed in action to the lowest total in 8½ months.

The U.S. Command in its weekly casualty summary reported 101 Americans and 1,963 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed last week. But the total of South Vietnamese combat dead was down only slightly from the week before, from 295 to 290.

The American toll was the lowest since last Oct. 26 except for the week of Dec. 29-Jan. 4. The New Year's cease-fire was in effect then and 101 Americans died in combat.

Another 1,056 Americans were wounded last week, the U.S. Command said. That was the lowest since the week of the New Year's cease-fire, when 599 were wounded.

The reported total of enemy dead was the lowest since Nov. 3-9, when the claim was 1,601 killed.

The decrease in American casualties apparently resulted, not only from the reduction in enemy attacks since June 18, but also from a recent shift in American strategy from "maximum pressure" on the enemy to "protective reaction," a shift U.S. sources have said was designed chiefly to hold down American casualties.

The policy is one of "responding in kind," meaning that U.S. troops generally operate in small units as the enemy is operating. And while reconnaissance patrols and other small units continue to seek the enemy, large units generally move into the field only in response to intelligence data indicating a strong chance of finding and meeting the enemy.

Meanwhile, another 2,750 American troops packed to leave South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command announced that 2,200 members of the 9th Marine Regiment and 550 U.S. Army reservists, all medical or support personnel, would depart Friday for Okinawa or the United States in accordance with President Nixon's withdrawal order.

With their departure, a total of 10,150 U.S. personnel will have been withdrawn from the war zone under the order for 25,000 to be replaced by South Vietnamese by Aug. 31.

The 2,200 Marines from the 9th regiment's 2nd Battalion will leave by ship for Okinawa, where the regiment's new headquarters is being established. Another 200 will fly out Saturday. About 25,000 more men of the regiment's 3rd Battalion are staying in Vietnam but will pull out before Aug. 31.

The other units being withdrawn Friday will fly to the United States from Da Nang, Chu Lai and Cam Ranh Bay to be deactivated at posts near their hometowns.

The measure called up by Mansfield as the vehicle for today's surtax fight was an administration-favored bill passed earlier by the House to accelerate payment of unemployment compensation taxes.

The 10 per cent surtax expired June 30 but Congress previously extended withholding rates through July so the government would keep drawing the surtax out of paychecks.

Players Plan
Fall Drama

Plans are well underway for the Roundtown Players' fall production of "Dear Friends" by Reginald Rose.

Directing the play, which was originally presented as a television drama, will be Angelo Dragonette of Columbus.

Dragonette, well-known director of little theater in the Columbus area, met with various committee chairmen Wednesday night as a preliminary planning session.

Tryouts for the play will be held Aug. 8 and 11, in the parish house of St. Philip's Church. Scripts are available at the Pickaway County Public Library for those who are interested in reading the play prior to tryouts.

Anyone interested in reading for a part in the play is invited to attend the tryout sessions. It is not necessary to be a member in order to audition for the play.

The best dressed dog competition was won by Becky Rhodes. Vickie and Kathy Bowers took second and Brenda Weaver was awarded third while Robin Ervin got fourth.
JENNIFER Weaver walked away from the parade with first place in the best dressed cat class. Gendia Peters took second and Kathy Weaver got third while Becky Peters was awarded fourth.

Susan Cope won the unusual pet section of the parade with her pet pig. Brett Hastings took second and Fred Seaton won third while Dennis Stir got fourth.

Two Bound To Grand Jury

Two Michigan residents charged by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Donald G. Thompson with breaking and entering with the intent to commit larceny have been bound to the Grand Jury under $2,500 bond each.
Barbara Lillian Szeszney and Randall James Szeszney both pleaded innocent to the charges. Judge Sterling Lamb ruled there was sufficient evidence presented to warrant a grand jury hearing.
Richard Burris, Ashville, was fined $50 and costs and the fine was suspended for forging a $30 check. Judge Lamb ordered Burris to make restitution of the amount for which the check was drawn.

Game Violators Forfeit Bonds

Three persons cited to appear in Circleville Municipal Court by Pickaway County Game protector Tom Weldon forfeited bonds posted for the violations.
Charles Cordel, Route 1, Ashville, forfeited a $24 bond for fishing without a license, as did Sandra Hudnell, of Columbus.
William Dean Daugherty, Amanda, forfeited a $34 bond for having a wild rabbit in his possession and a $24 bond for having a wild quail in his possession out of season.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There comes a time in the life of nearly every television show when it has to make changes or run the risk of running out of new ideas. Such a time has come for "My Three Sons," beginning its 10th season on CBS.

"Gunsmoke" can go on forever, but we can't," said Fred MacMurray, the relaxed star of the show. "The kids grow up and grow in and out of problems. But it seems that almost anything you can do has been done."

VC Push U.S. Pullout

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — A top negotiator for the Viet Cong says it is working during the current lull in the war for a total withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam, the Long Island newspaper Newsday reported Wednesday.

In a copyright story from Verrieren-le-Buisson, France, reporter Marilyn Berger questioned Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, foreign minister of the provisional revolutionary government of South Vietnam, about the significance of the drop in enemy military activity.

Mrs. Binh replied, "The people of South Vietnam have been acting so that American troops will totally withdraw from South Vietnam. We are acting and working in all fields to reach that objective."

Later she said, "Our aim is not to exterminate American troops. Our goal is to win back our national independence and to drive away the American troops from South Vietnam."

Newsday quoted U.S. diplomatic sources in Paris as saying they would have to study the text of the interview before making any comment on it.

So what's new is that MacMurray as Steve Douglas is taking a bride in the fall. She will be played by Beverly Garland.

"I hope this is the right move," MacMurray said. "After 10 years you've got to make some changes. We've run out of things to do with the five men." Miss Garland will play a widow who will bring along a young daughter.

Change is no stranger to "My Three Sons." Over the years the sons have changed, and when William Frawley died, William Demarest moved in. A few years ago, the family moved from the Midwest to California, where the oldest son, Rob, found a girl and got married.

Steve's marriage, like the birth of Rob's triplets last year, is timed to come early to build up the audience ratings. MacMurray will meet, woo and marry Miss Garland in the first eight shows.

"You might say we're getting married in self defense, because so many shows now have widowers with children," MacMurray laughed. There will be 12 shows in the coming season with widows or widowers with children.

MacMurray's long movie career, stretching back to 1934, has made him one of the richest men in Hollywood. His wacky comedies for Walt Disney were among the most reliable money-makers in the industry.

He was lured into television in 1960 only by an arrangement that allows him to shoot all of his scenes for the whole season at once. Then the cast completes the shows while MacMurray spends the rest of the year tending to his ranch and other enterprises, relaxing and playing golf.

"We shoot eight pages a day," he said. "I remember in the movies we used to do two pages a day. One in the morning and one in the afternoon. Boy, what a vacation."

Quarter Horse Racing Bill Needs Break In Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The author of a bill to upgrade quarter horse racing in Ohio says "it's going to have to get all the breaks to get through the House this session."

Rep. Lloyd George Kerns, R-16 Raymond, was referring to the bill that passed the Senate Wednesday 25-3.

Kerns had the bill introduced in the Senate because the House cutoff date for the introduction of bills had passed.

The bill would authorize the State Racing Commission to issue an additional permit to race tracks for 15 days of quarter horse racing.

The commission could issue the additional permit to a track which has not more than 50 racing dates in one year.

The Senate also passed and sent to the governor 24-3 a bill to extend Ohio's open housing law to cover the sale and rental of one- and two-family residences, currently exempted from the statute.

The bill would permit a person allegedly discriminated against to seek injunctive relief in a common pleas court during the time the Ohio Civil Rights Commission investigates his complaint.

The bill was originally defeated in the House, but was reconsidered and passed after the more stringent enforcement procedures were added.

The Senate passed and sent to the House 92-8 a bill that would allow port authorities to level excise taxes on aircraft passengers and parking operators and would increase the amount of property taxes they may impose.

The funds would be used to finance facilities including airports, subways, tramlines, rapid transit, monorails, bus and taxi systems, stadiums and water front facilities.

In other action, the Senate adopted a bill to qualify ghetto property owners for federal riot re-insurance.

Later Wednesday the House concurred by a 92-1 vote in Senate amendments. The bill now goes to the governor for his signature.

The bill continues the Ohio Fair Plan for assurance of fire and extended coverage insurance in urban areas.

The Senate adopted 28-0 and sent to the governor a House-passed bill to provide increased relocation payments to property owners and tenants forced to move because of state and federal highway projects.

Ohio is required to pass the bill or face the loss of federal funds.

League Rips Handgun Ban

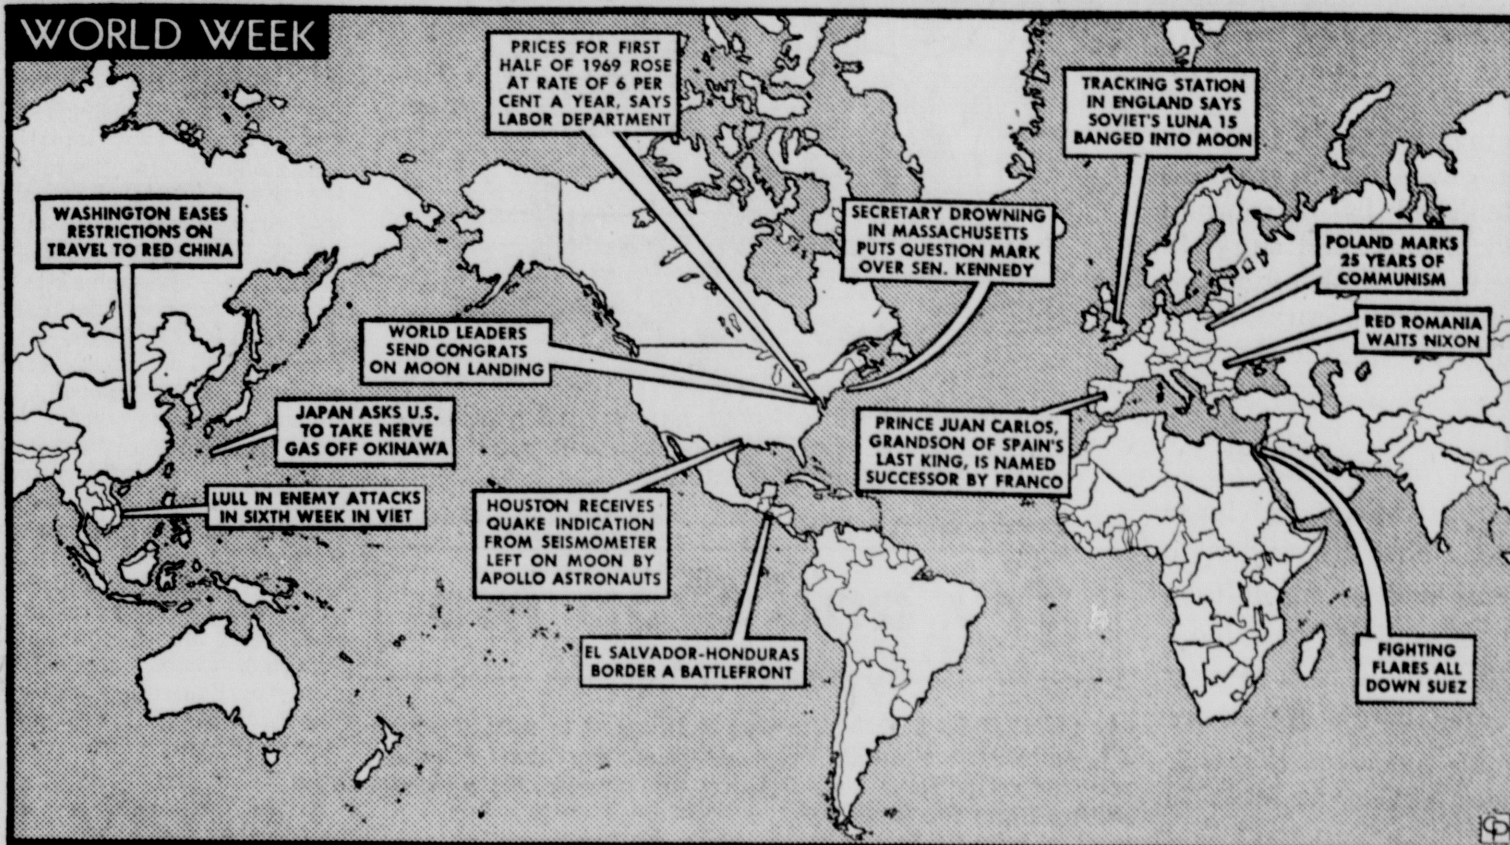

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A presidential committee's suggestion that 21 million Americans be disarmed "borders on treason and would not stop the implementation of a single crime," the League of Ohio Sportsmen said Wednesday.

In a letter to President Nixon, Richard L. Paugh, League executive director, urged the dismissal of Dr. Milton Eisenhower and his committee named to research the causes of crime.

Paugh suggested that committee members be replaced by "citizens who are more practical in their approach."

Paugh asked Nixon to "assure the general public that the second amendment of the Constitution of the United States will not be broken and that they may continue to defend their homes and loved ones from lawbreakers by keeping a handgun in the home."

He said he had written the letter on direction of the league's board of directors.

2 More Ohioans Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two more Ohio servicemen have been killed in recent action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Wednesday.

They were Army Pfc. Ray G. Huff of Hinckley and Marine Pfc. Robert L. Ellis of Youngstown.

Bossy's Secret Revealed

Some scientists, it is obvious, cannot be satisfied until they have ruined something beautiful for everybody. For centuries, cow's milk has been one of man's favorite beverages. Almost everyone drinks milk at some time or other, and many at various ages survive on little else.

While the process of obtaining milk from a cow has fascinated city dwellers, few persons really spent a great deal of time wondering how bossy made it all possible. Then, along came a team of Purdue University dairy scientists, and they began asking such questions as, where does the material come from that keeps the fat globules in milk from joining force and becoming a solid?

So they began a study and only recently reported to the American Dairy Science Association on their findings.

"We have been able to isolate the membrane that surrounds the milk secreting cell," reported Prof. T. W. Keenan, "and have compared it both in structure and composition with membrane that surrounds the fat globules. Our results present unequivocal evidence that the two membranes are the same compositionally."

"There is further evidence that the cell membrane given up to the fat globule is replenished by membrane surrounding milk protein and sugar in the cell in exactly the same amount."

Think about that while quaffing a cup of nature's most perfect food.

Jobs By Computer

Two of the great wastes in any society are the unemployed man and the unfilled job. When the man's skills fit the job requirements but neither knows about the other, the waste is compounded.

Multiply this situation thousands of times, and some conception of the unemployment picture on a national scale is gained. Not every unemployed person has a job waiting for him, of course, and for some persons with obsolete skills or no skills unemployment is inevitable without training.

Computerized job banks in large metropolitan areas now are trying to bring together employers with unfilled positions and unemployed who have employable skills. One of the first of these banks, located in the Baltimore area, has been so successful the U.S. Labor Department expect at least 20 more to be functioning within a year.

One interesting sidelight revealed by the Baltimore experiment was the number of persons matched with jobs who failed to show up for employment.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Perhaps it has never happened to you, but in your dreams at least you can imagine how it feels to be told by your bank that you really have $100 more than you realized in your checking account.

Something of the sort has been the good fortune of both the United States and Britain this month. And in both instances the discoveries came when the atmosphere was bleak indeed.

Nothing, that is, concerned the Nixon administration more than achieving its widely publicized goal of producing a budget surplus. It appeared nip and tuck, for the apparent surplus was less than $1 billion, a paltry sum.

Now the Treasury has discovered that, unexpectedly, it has collected $2.8 billion more in personal income taxes than was foreseen as recently as last April, pushing the budget surplus to well over $3 billion, a respectable figure.

Britain found its good fortune in underestimating its exports, one of the critical areas of its economy. And compounding the good fortune was the fact that the same error has been made every year since 1964.

As many Americans and all Britishers realize, that nation's economy has been in the doldrums, one of the reasons—or effects—being that exports have not been strong enough to produce an inflow of cash.

The Board of Trade made a mighty contribution to rectifying that poor situation earlier this month when it announced that it had been underestimating these exports by between 2 and 3 per cent.

Certainly this isn't going to correct the imbalances in the British economy, but it does mean that the country was better off by between $24 million and $36 million a year since 1964. And it provokes interesting speculation.

Did Britain act too hastily in reducing the stated value of the pound sterling from $2.80 to $2.40? One of the reasons for so doing was the distressing figures that showed big imports and small exports.

It is unlikely that the errors would have meant the difference between a strong pound and a weak pound. But in some monthly reports the errors could have meant the difference between a poor export month and a terrible one.

Equally interesting is the speculation on the U.S. Treasury's error. If nearly $3 billion more than was expected was taken out of the hands of American consumers, why in the world didn't this have more of an impact?

In other words, why wasn't the decreased spending power of Americans more obvious in reduced sales of, let us say, automobiles and mutual funds and clothing, and in lower expenditures for travel and vacations?

The explanations are perhaps as common as errors. One reason, it is safe to say, is that incomes also were a bit higher than forecast, and higher incomes sometimes mean higher taxes. Another is that savings were dipped into.

But an entirely unprofessional explanation of why taxpayers can part with their cash and still continue to spend, is that errors were made on the other side of the ledger also.

That is, while the government was siphoning money from taxpayers it was leaking and spilling an awful lot of it back into the economy; in the form of unexpectedly high defense expenditures, for example.

Note that on the same day as the government announced the budget surplus, the Pentagon conceded that it will have paid out hundreds of thousands of dollars more than was anticipated for the CSA air transport.

That's the kind—although not the size—of error ordinary citizens are used to hearing about, both from their government and from their bank.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A MAJESTIC LION once was challenged to a fight by an ambitious skunk. Very politely, the lion declined, pointing out, "Dear boy, fighting me now would win you lasting fame for tangling with a mighty lion. On the other hand, think how my reputation would suffer if it became known I was in the company of a skunk!"

President Grover Cleveland was interrupted at a Democratic rally one evening by a beaming gentleman who pumped his hand enthusiastically and boomed, "I welcome the opportunity at last to thank you in person for conferring upon me the only political honor I ever have had." "How was that?" asked the puzzled President. "Well," explained the interloper, "first, you appointed me consul at Trieste, but my wife said the climate there was wrong for her, so later you offered me an important post at our embassy in St. Petersburg. I had to decline again, but I'll always be grateful to you, nonetheless."

President Cleveland, smiling broadly, suggested, "Let's shake hands again. I believe this is the first time I've had the honor of shaking hands with a Democrat who refused two offices."

A widow received so many forms from an insurance company before she could cash in her late husband's policy that she finally wrote in frustration, "You're making it so difficult for me to get the money you owe me that I'm beginning to wish my husband hadn't died."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My daughter is almost fourteen years old and has not yet begun to menstruate. Most of the girls in her class have already started and she is embarrassed because she feels she is immature and does not "belong." Is there any way that we can hurry up this process so that she does not have to feel childish?

Mrs. S. Y., Arkansas
Dear Mrs. Y.: It seems incomprehensible to adults that the onset of menstruation should be so important to a fourteen-year-old girl. But it is. Many of these children — and I hope all of them — have been prepared for a long time for this, the first post-puberty evidence of maturity. Proper guidance spares them emotional upheavals if menstruation begins unexpectedly. Proper guidance also spares them emotional turbulence if they are disappointed because this normal process is delayed.

Most girls begin to show sexual development from the age of ten and reach maturity at fourteen. I am sure your daughter will soon begin her normal cycle. During this transitional period, it is wise that a physician thoroughly examine her for the possibility of some glandular or endocrine imbalance. There are a number of important tests by which the activity of the ovaries and the other hormonal glands can be studied.

Occasionally, endocrine or hormone deficiencies become evident and are quickly rectified with proper administration of hormones.

When there is no evidence of hormone deficiency and time alone seems to be the factor, then emotional support by the parents, a doctor and a psychologist will help carry her through the difficult time she is in. And it is a difficult one for an adolescent. Patient understanding will bridge this gap for your daughter.

Recently I had jaundice after a European trip. We have been trying to find the reason for the Hepatitis I developed. Is there any way to track down the cause?

Mr. W. G., Georgia
Dear Mr. G.: The yellowish discoloration of the skin that may follow an attack of hepatitis is called jaundice. There was a time when it was virtually impossible to trace the underlying cause for this condition. Now it is possible, by a series of "detecting" tests, to pinpoint the cause and rule out other possibilities.

The very first tests are made on the blood to show the kind and severity of the jaundice. These same tests are taken at repeated intervals and indicate the progression or the recession of the condition which affected the liver.

Exposure to other people with infectious jaundice, a recent transfusion, eating oysters or clams that may have come from polluted waters and the use of toxic drugs are intently studied.

A number of drugs can cause a severe and perhaps allergic reaction which affects the liver and produces a special type of jaundice.

Chronic gall bladder disease, stones in the gall bladder ducts, chronic alcoholism and cirrhosis must all be considered as a possible cause.

The intricacy of the tests and their delicacy frequently points to the cause of jaundice, and then dictates the exact character of treatment that must be used for complete recovery.

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Herald Traveler said Wednesday that the vast majority of letters received by the paper say Sen. Edward M. Kennedy should resign from the U.S. Senate.

The paper said telephone calls after Kennedy's television appearance last Friday, in which he commented on the auto accident which took the life of a young woman passenger, were 2½ to one in favor of his remaining in the Senate.

He had asked the advice of Massachusetts residents in determining whether he should resign.

The Captain Is Out

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

WASHINGTON — In view of Senator Ted Kennedy's own statement about his troubles, nobody should indulge in personal comments on what befell the luckless Democratic Senate Majority Whip when his car plunged off an unlighted bridge on lonely Chappaquiddick Island at the eastern end of the larger Massachusetts island of Martha's Vineyard. But the quirks of personal fate, however reluctantly they may be explained or judged, often work in a quite callous way to shift the course of history. This, despite one's first impulse to say nothing of any sort about the Kennedy involvement in tragedy, demands comment.

It so happened that the accident in Massachusetts effectively removed the captain of the anti-ABM forces in the Senate at a most critical moment. True enough, Ted Kennedy had not taken a front-stage position on the forensic battle over the limited deployment of an anti-ballistic missile. Like Democratic Senator Burt Wheeler (Montana) in the days of the big fight to block Franklin D. Roosevelt's plan for packing the Supreme Court, Kennedy, a canny parliamentary strategist, had deferred to his allies among the Republicans.

It was the Republican Senator Cooper of Kentucky who put his name to the amendment intended to keep the anti-ballistic missile in "research and development" status. And it was Republican Senator Aiken of Vermont who tried to kill the ABM outright. Meanwhile, Democrats such as Senator Gore of Tennessee did more talking in committee and on the floor than Kennedy himself.

Even so, the anti-ABM crusade was bound up from its inception with Ted Kennedy's felt need to oppose President Richard Nixon's first important military policy decision. Kennedy had sponsored the Dr. Jerome Wiesner-Professor Abram Chayes anti-ABM book which had kicked off the whole rumpus.

Kennedy men toured the country to present the Wiesner-Chayes arguments; they turned up on campuses and at forums with well-oiled regularity. Anti-ABM letters poured in on Congress, many of them suspiciously uniform in both arguments and phrasing. It was all a "snow job," quite in keeping with Kennedy-organized crusades in the past. And Ted Kennedy, as Whip, stood ready to marshal the Democratic votes at the close.

The Nixon forces moved into action somewhat belatedly. Their literature — a sharp study by Herman Kahn of the Hudson Institute, presenting the case for a "thin" ABM deployment, and a well-reasoned document called "The ABM and the Changed Strategic Military Balance: U.S.A. vs. U.S.S.R.," put out by the American Security Council — has only recently begun to move through the mails. Weeks after the spate of letter-writing provoked by the Wiesner-Chayes crusade had started to dribble off, a flood of pro-ABM letters descended on Congress.

The day of decision on the ABM, which may have come with a vote on the "Cooper amendment" by the time this column is in print, was fast approaching amid frenzied counting and counter-counting in the Senate anterooms. And Vice President Spiro Agnew was girding to break a possible fifty-fifty tie when Ted Kennedy, the quiet leader of the opposition, failed to step on the brake or jerk the driver's wheel around in time to save himself and his passenger from disaster on a Massachusetts weekend.

You couldn't get anyone on Capitol Hill to say very much about the effect of the Kennedy accident on the fate of ABM. But the comment of an administrative assistant to a hitherto uncommitted Democratic Senator who had just decided for the ABM seems pertinent. "With Ted Kennedy out of the fight," he said, "the anti-ABM team is without a head. Dick Goodwin and Jerome Wiesner can't very well carry the ball without their leader."

Sticking my neck out, I would say that the ABM should carry by a 55-45 vote. It should go that way partly because Ted Kennedy was out of the right on the eve of St. Crispin's Day, and partly because of the successful return to earth of our moon conquerors, Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin, and Mike Collins, who proved that with rockets, computers and electronics you can "home" on the most unimaginable targets, even, possibly, on an incoming Soviet missile. Nixon, once considered a born loser, has turned into a most dramatic sort of winner. Who would have guessed it in 1960 or 1962?

OAS Sets Lat-Am War Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tentative agreement was reached early today by the Organization of American States for a settlement of the 16-day old El Salvador-Honduran crisis.

Terms of the peace settlement were reached after El Salvador, in a surprise move, agreed to withdraw its troops, which have occupied Honduran soil for the past two weeks.

The Salvadoran decision was announced by its foreign minister, Francisco J. Guerrero, Tuesday afternoon, but it was only after long and acrimonious debate that the details of the settlement were tentatively agreed to.

The settlement provides for the immediate withdrawal of Salvadoran troops from Honduran territory accompanied by certain guarantees for the safety of the some 285,000 Salvadorans residing in Honduras.

It also urges that both nations bring to trial persons guilty of having "committed crimes and violated the human rights" of Salvadorans living in Honduras and vice versa.

After Guerrero's announcement, which received shouts of approval and extended applause from OAS foreign ministers, the OAS named a four-man commission to hammer out the details of the peace formula.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

One ironic fact about the national inflation is that it helps some people's health. They are now no longer able to afford or do things that are bad for them anyway.

Girls who wear pink dresses to the office during summer months get the most luncheon invitations. Try this, girls, and see for yourselves.

It isn't necessary to perform great deeds in order to win attention. Small deeds will gain you a local fame, too—even if all you do is to set out to become the first girl in your neighborhood to learn Esperanto after the age of 50.

Celebrities often bore us when they insist upon inflicting their views on us at great length, but nobody is too busy to stop and enjoy watching a small child pick its nose.

Ever notice how long it takes for a woman to find the cash in her handbag when she's in a hurry—and how quickly she can fish out her lipstick when she feels she really needs it?

The annoying thing about our woes is that, as soon as we try to brag about them in public, someone always tops us with woes that are worse. For example, as soon as you complain about having to wear some new bifocals, you run into half a dozen fellows who say they've had to put up with trifocals for years. The average American now discards about a ton of junk a year. It seems that the less we do with our civilization the more debris it produces to be thrown away.

Are you one of those people who feel they have a squeamish stomach? You are probably only kidding yourself because you have spent your life pampering your appetite. The way to test the real condition of your stomach is to go without meals for two days. Then if you don't snap at the chance to gulp down a plate of stale mutton, overdone cabbage and raw ten-penny nails, there really may be something wrong with you.

Never marry a girl who understands you thoroughly. After the wedding, she won't.

A man is pretty safe in life as long as he knows his faults and has at least two friends who think they can discern some virtues in him.

A husband who gives up smoking drums his fingers incessantly on the dinner table. A wife who gives up smoking curls her hair in her fingers incessantly — as if she were a little girl again — and complains about her husband for drumming his fingers incessantly on the table.

It is not actually against the law to seek a new kind of fun after 40, but as the old saying goes, it might as well be.

Bossy's Secret Revealed

Some scientists, it is obvious, cannot be satisfied until they have ruined something beautiful for everybody. For centuries, cow's milk has been one of man's favorite beverages. Almost everyone drinks milk at some time or other, and many at various ages survive on little else.

While the process of obtaining milk from a cow has fascinated city dwellers, few persons really spent a great deal of time wondering how bossy made it all possible. Then, along came a team of Purdue University dairy scientists, and they began asking such questions as, where does the material come from that keeps the fat globules in milk from joining force and becoming a solid?

So they began a study and only recently reported to the American Dairy Science Association on their findings.

"We have been able to isolate the membrane that surrounds the milk secreting cell," reported Prof. T. W. Keenan, "and have compared it both in structure and composition with membrane that surrounds the fat globules. Our results present unequivocal evidence that the two membranes are the same compositionally."

"There is further evidence that the cell membrane given up to the fat globule is replenished by membrane surrounding milk protein and sugar in the cell in exactly the same amount."

Think about that while quaffing a cup of nature's most perfect food.

Jobs By Computer

Two of the great wastes in any society are the unemployed man and the unfilled job. When the man's skills fit the job requirements but neither knows about the other, the waste is compounded.

Multiply this situation thousands of times, and some conception of the unemployment picture on a national scale is gained. Not every unemployed person has a job waiting for him, of course, and for some persons with obsolete skills or no skills unemployment is inevitable without training.

Computerized job banks in large metropolitan areas now are trying to bring together employers with unfilled positions and unemployed who have employable skills. One of the first of these banks, located in the Baltimore area, has been so successful the U.S. Labor Department expect at least 20 more to be functioning within a year.

One interesting sidelight revealed by the Baltimore experiment was the number of persons matched with jobs who failed to show up for employment.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Perhaps it has never happened to you, but in your dreams at least you can imagine how it feels to be sold by your bank that you really have $100 more than you realized in your checking account.

Something of the sort has been the good fortune of both the United States and Britain this month. And in both instances the discoveries came when the atmosphere was bleak indeed.

Nothing, that is, concerned the Nixon administration more than achieving its widely publicized goal of producing a budget surplus. It appeared nip and tuck, for the apparent surplus was less than $1 billion, a paltry sum.

Now the Treasury has discovered that, unexpectedly, it has collected $2.8 billion more in personal income taxes than was foreseen as recently as last April, pushing the budget surplus to well over $3 billion, a respectable figure.

Britain found its good fortune in underestimating its exports, one of the critical areas of its economy. And compounding the good fortune was the fact that the same error has been made every year since 1964.

As many Americans and all Britishers realize, that nation's economy has been in the doldrums, one of the reasons—or effects—being that exports have not been strong enough to produce an inflow of cash.

The Board of Trade made a mighty contribution to rectifying that poor situation earlier this month when it announced that it had been underestimating these exports by between 2 and 3 per cent.

Certainly this isn't going to correct the imbalances in the British economy, but it does mean that the country was better off by between $24 million and $36 million a year since 1964. And it provokes interesting speculation.

Did Britain act too hastily in reducing the stated value of the pound sterling from $2.80 to $2.40? One of the reasons for so doing was the distressing figures that showed big imports and small exports.

It is unlikely that the errors would have meant the difference between a strong pound and a weak pound. But in some monthly reports the errors could have meant the difference between a poor export month and a terrible one.

Equally interesting is the speculation on the U.S. Treasury's error. If nearly $3 billion more than was expected was taken out of the hands of American consumers, why in the world didn't this have more of an impact?

In other words, why wasn't the decreased spending power of Americans more obvious in reduced sales of, let us say, automobiles and mutual funds and clothing, and in lower expenditures for travel and vacations?

The explanations are perhaps as common as errors. One reason, it is safe to say, is that incomes also were a bit higher than forecast, and higher incomes sometimes mean higher taxes. Another is that savings were dipped into.

But an entirely unprofessional explanation of why taxpayers can part with their cash and still continue to spend, is that errors were made on the other side of the ledger also.

That is, while the government was siphoning money from taxpayers it was leaking and spilling an awful lot of it back into the economy; in the form of unexpectedly high defense expenditures, for example.

Note that on the same day as the government announced the budget surplus, the Pentagon conceded that it will have paid out hundreds of thousands of dollars more than was anticipated for the C5A air transport.

That's the kind—although not the size—of error ordinary citizens are used to hearing about, both from their government and from their bank.

A MAJESTIC LION once was challenged to a fight by an ambitious skunk. Very politely, the lion declined, pointing out, "Dear boy, fighting me now would win you lasting fame for tangling with a mighty lion. On the other hand, think how my reputation would suffer if it became known I was in the company of a skunk!"

President Grover Cleveland was interrupted at a Democratic rally one evening by a beaming gentleman who pumped his hand enthusiastically and boomed, "I welcome the opportunity at last to thank you in person for conferring upon me the only political honor I ever have had." "How was that?" asked the puzzled President. "Well," explained the interloper, "first, you appointed me consul at Trieste, but my wife said the climate there was wrong for her, so later you offered me an important post at our embassy in St. Petersburg. I had to decline again, but I'll always be grateful to you, nonetheless."

President Cleveland, smiling broadly, suggested, "Let's shake hands again. I believe this is the first time I've had the honor of shaking hands with a Democrat who refused two offices."

A widow received so many forms from an insurance company before she could cash in her late husband's policy that she finally wrote in frustration, "You're making it so difficult for me to get the money you owe me that I'm beginning to wish my husband hadn't died."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My daughter is almost fourteen years old and has not yet begun to menstruate. Most of the girls in her class have already started and she is embarrassed because she feels she is immature and does not "belong." Is there any way that we can hurry up this process so that she does not have to feel childish?

Mrs. S. Y., Arkansas

Dear Mrs. Y.: It seems incomprehensible to adults that the onset of menstruation should be so important to a fourteen-year-old girl. But it is. Many of these children — and I hope all of them — have been prepared for a long time for this, the first post-puberty evidence of maturity. Proper guidance spares them emotional upheavals if menstruation begins unexpectedly. Proper guidance also spares them emotional turbulence if they are disappointed because this normal process is delayed.

Most girls begin to show sexual development from the age of ten and reach maturity at fourteen. I am sure your daughter will soon begin her normal cycle. During this transitional period, it is wise that a physician thoroughly examine her for the possibility of some glandular or endocrine imbalance. There are a number of important tests by which the activity of the ovaries and the other hormonal glands can be studied.

Occasionally, endocrine or hormone deficiencies become evident and are quickly rectified with proper administration of hormones.

When there is no evidence of hormone deficiency and time alone seems to be the factor, then emotional support by the parents, a doctor and a psychologist will help carry her through the difficult time she is in. And it is a difficult one for an adolescent. Patient understanding will bridge this gap for your daughter.

Recently I had jaundice after a European trip. We have been trying to find the reason for the Hepatitis I developed. Is there any way to track down the cause?

Mr. W. G., Georgia

Dear Mr. G.: The yellowish discoloration of the skin that may follow an attack of hepatitis is called jaundice. There was a time when it was virtually impossible to trace the underlying cause for this condition. Now it is possible, by a series of "detecting" tests, to pinpoint the cause and rule out other possibilities.

The very first tests are made on the blood to show the kind and severity of the jaundice. These same tests are taken at repeated intervals and indicate the progression or the recession of the condition which affected the liver.

Exposure to other people with infectious jaundice, a recent transfusion, eating oysters or clams that may have come from polluted waters and the use of toxic drugs are intently studied.

A number of drugs can cause a severe and perhaps allergic reaction which affects the liver and produces a special type of jaundice.

Chronic gall bladder disease, stones in the gall bladder ducts, chronic alcoholism and cirrhosis must all be considered as a possible cause.

The intricacy of the tests and their delicacy frequently points to the cause of jaundice, and then dictates the exact character of treatment that must be used for complete recovery.

The Captain Is Out

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

WASHINGTON — In view of Senator Ted Kennedy's own statement about his troubles, nobody should indulge in personal comments on what befell the luckless Democratic Senate Majority Whip when his car plunged off an unlighted bridge on lonely Chappaquiddick Island at the eastern end of the larger Massachusetts island of Martha's Vineyard. But the quirks of personal fate, however reluctantly they may be explained or judged, often work in a quite callous way to shift the course of history. This, despite one's first impulse to say nothing of any sort about the Kennedy involvement in tragedy, demands comment.

It so happened that the accident in Massachusetts effectively removed the captain of the anti-ABM forces in the Senate at a most critical moment. True enough, Ted Kennedy had not taken a front-stage position on the forensic battle over the limited deployment of an anti-ballistic missile. Like Democratic Senator Burt Wheeler (Montana) in the days of the first fight to block Franklin D. Roosevelt's plan for packing the Supreme Court, Kennedy, a canny parliamentary strategist, had deferred to his allies among the Republicans.

It was the Republican Senator Cooper of Kentucky who put his name to the amendment intended to keep the anti-ballistic missile in "research and development" status. And it was Republican Senator Aiken of Vermont who tried to kill the ABM outright. Meanwhile, Democrats such as Senator Gore of Tennessee did more talking in committee and on the floor than Kennedy himself.

Even so, the anti-ABM crusade was bound up from its inception with Ted Kennedy's felt need to oppose President Richard Nixon's first important military policy decision. Kennedy had sponsored the Dr. Jerome Wiesner-Professor Abram Chayes anti-ABM book which had kicked off the whole rumpus.

Kennedy men toured the country to present the Wiesner-Chayes arguments; they turned up on campuses and at forums with well-oiled regularity. Anti-ABM letters poured in on Congress, many of them suspiciously uniform in both arguments and phraseology. It was all a "snow job," quite in keeping with Kennedy-organized crusades in the past. Most Letters Say Kennedy Should Quit

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Herald Traveler said Wednesday that the vast majority of letters received by the paper say Sen. Edward M. Kennedy should resign from the U.S. Senate.

The paper said telephone calls after Kennedy's television appearance last Friday, in which he commented on the auto accident which took the life of a young woman passenger, were 2½ to one in favor of his remaining in the Senate.

He had asked the advice of Massachusetts residents in determining whether he should resign.

The Herald Traveler said that as of Tuesday, 14 letters favored Kennedy remaining in the Senate and 103 were opposed.

Negroes Win Black Belt County Vote

EUTAW, Ala. (AP) — Negroes have won control of the Greene County Commission and Board of Education in an election which their leaders say signals the end of white political domination in Alabama's Black Belt.

"What you've done here is going to spread all over the Black Belt," the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy told a victory rally Tuesday night after unofficial returns showed Negro candidates swept the special election.

The six black candidates in the election ordered by the Supreme Court captured four of the five county commission seats and two school board seats for majorities on both governing bodies. In this county the population is 83 per cent Negro.

Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), and Dr. John Cashin, head of the National Democratic Party of Alabama (NDPA) predicted that the election results would inspire Negroes to new political gains throughout the old plantation region called the Black Belt. The best, named for its dark soil, is predominantly Negro.

"We've got to elect more black people," Abernathy said at the rally. He mentioned offices of the county sheriff, probate judge and superintendent of schools.

Cashin said in an interview the NDPA, a splinter group loyal to the national Democratic party, would use the Greene County election as a springboard for winning political offices in 15 to 20 other Black Belt counties.

Cosmetics For Black People Find Ever-Growing Market

THEODORE A. EDIGER
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP)—Black beauty is Blanche Calloway's business. And she says her business — selling cosmetics especially made for black people — has boomed in less than a year from a small firm to a growing nationwide market.

"We blacks just can't expect results from cosmetics designed for white skins," said Miss Calloway, sister of band leader Cab Calloway.

She is president of Afram House, which last October began a mail order business by sending catalogs to black people. Now the company is establishing retail outlets throughout the nation and has expanded its line to other black-oriented merchandise, such as black dolls and African wall plaques.

Lipstick, eyelashes, eye shadows, powders, perfumes and wigs are much in demand by black women, Miss Calloway said.

For men, there are such items as Soul deodorant, Voodoo aftershave lotion, and Black Magic body lotion.

"Black women didn't need cosmetics years ago," Miss Calloway said. "Her job outside the home was as maid or housekeeper. She didn't need to look attractive, and couldn't afford it anyway."

"Now the black woman works in an integrated business and an integrated school. She has to have an awareness of everything it takes to make her attractive because she has to compete."

BancOhio in perspective...

Where do good ideas come from?

Ideas, like apple seeds, must be planted. A good idea can come from anyone. But a most fertile source is your banker, especially if he's associated with BancOhio Corporation. Ideas are his business. He's skilled in money management and serves as your counselor in financial affairs.

BancOhio Corporation offers the joint "idea power" of 22 banks with 90 offices, 262 bank directors and 2,335 associates in 21 Ohio counties to more than 500,000 bank customers. The collective experience of the directors who guide our banks represents the spectrum of business and the professions. The BancOhio involvement in commerce, industry and agriculture in Ohio's heartland has built us into this state's third largest financial entity. We are Ohio's first bank holding company and are also first in number of banking offices and number of counties served. Formed in 1929, our 1969 vitality indicates that "life begins at 40". Our 9112 shareholders and the general public will find this quarterly statement interesting and informative.

Affiliate banks are continuing to offer their customers the latest money management facilities to assure that they will be the best served bank customers anywhere. The Master Charge credit card, equipment leasing and the advantages of an International Department are current examples!

Is one of our affiliate banks located close to where you live or do business? Wouldn't it be a good idea to become associated with a BancOhio "good idea" bank?

Negroes Win Black Belt County Vote

EUTAW, Ala. (AP)—Negroes have won control of the Greene County Commission and Board of Education in an election which their leaders say signals the end of white political domination in Alabama's Black Belt.

"What you've done here is going to spread all over the Black Belt," the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy told a victory rally Tuesday night after unofficial returns showed Negro candidates swept the special election.

The six black candidates in the election ordered by the Supreme Court captured four of the five county commission seats and two school board seats for majorities on both governing bodies. In this county the population is 83 per cent Negro.

Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), and Dr. John Cashin, head of the National Democratic Party of Alabama (NDPA) predicted that the election results would inspire Negroes to new political gains throughout the old plantation region called the Black Belt. The best, named for its dark soil, is predominantly Negro.

"When we started, we bought ads in black publications and included coupons for catalogs," she recalled. "We got letters from all over the United States."

The biggest response, she added, came from the Midwest. While her products are designed for black people, Miss Calloway said some whites also use them.

"Some of the white soul sisters have been wearing our makeup when they can't find other cosmetics to go with their tan," she said, smiling. "After all, caucasians spend many hours a day lying out in the sun trying to look like we look."

Fair Junior Flower Show Exhibitors Display Talent

By RUTH MONTELIUS
Garden Editor

Wednesday was Junior Gardener Day at the Pickaway County Fair Flower Show.

If the entries of the young people were any indication we older arrangers had better watch out because there is a great deal of talent coming up fast.

Of course it also shows that some of the advisers for these young arrangers have really been working. They should be very proud of their students.

Mrs. Walter Hughes, Clarksburg, was the judge. She of course is an accredited flower show judge. She is president of Judges Council of regions 8 and 9 of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs, is past regional director of Region 9 of the OAGC and is past state chairman of County and State Fair Flower Shows. She is currently a member of the Clarksburg Garden Club.

Mrs. Hughes gave a verbal judging which was aimed and keyed for the juniors. She proceeded to give a demonstration of flower arranging for them after the judging was over. This concerned basic information and notes on containers and holders.

The judge said that there was a lot of imagination and good design evident in this junior show. She was impressed by the originality and distinction shown by the arrangements. She mentioned she could have given about 5 blue ribbons in the "Gone Fishing" class.

Linda Davies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davies, really walked off with honors at this show. She not only won the top prize but three firsts and a third in the arrangements.

The clerks for this show were Mrs. John Beck and Mrs. Charles Huston.

The following are the Junior Flower Show winners:

Kentucky's Parks

Prosper Yearly

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Based on spring business, Parks Commissioner Robert Gable has predicted another record year for Kentucky's state parks.

Denture Use Is Increasing

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Prosthodontic Society says one of four persons by age 40 needs partial or complete dentures and the ratio increases to one out of two by age 50.

Prosthodontists, who specialize in replacing missing teeth, says a space from a tooth extraction should be promptly filled with a bridge because it allows teeth to drift out of line.

They also warn against trying to correct the fit of dentures with do-it-yourself reliners and repair kits.

Their advice: see your dentist.

Howard G. Judd Retains Red Cross Chairman Post

Howard G. Judd Jr. will continue to serve the Pickaway County Red Cross Board as Chapter Chairman.

The approval of the nominating committees recommendations of officers and acceptance of the office was given last night at the regular monthly meeting for board members at the chapter house.

HOWARD G. JUDD JR.

John Harbaugh accepted the responsibilities of vice chairman for a second term. Eddie Reynolds continues as treasurer and Shirley Edsel will serve as board secretary.

Five new board members were introduced. They are Mrs. William Winter, representing Walnut Twp.; Mrs. Jack Clark, representing Williamsport; Mrs. Jo Ann Sanders, registered nurse; John Sanders, representing REACT and Rescue and Mrs. Shirley Edsel, of the city.

CHAIRMAN Judd announced that Jack Mader will serve as Blood Program chairman, a post he so capably filled when former chairman, Sam Foster, was transferred from the city. Concerning the Blood Program, Rotary Club has advised they will continue to be responsible for promoting Bloodmobile visits.

An emergency arose recently when a surgical patient at Berger Hospital was in need of quantities of blood not readily available. Through the efforts of the chapter's executive secretary Mrs. Roloff Wolford, donors were recruited and the blood needs of the patient were met.

Mrs. Wolford, in thanking the donors, added that she would see that Pickaway County would be credited with the blood donations as pertains to the county's established quota.

Mrs. Wolford also reported service to 46 military families during the month and coordinated disaster aid for two county families. One family suffered storm damage, the other lost home and possessions in a fire. Area residents response to Red Cross' requests for aid was most gratifying, according to Mrs. Wolford.

Mike Alkire announced that the last two weeks of The Red Cross Swim Program will commence Monday. At present, there are openings in the 9 a.m. class only. Anyone who hasn't signed up and wishes to do so should contact Red Cross.

In his report, Mike stated that the Adult Swim Program had been very successful with certificates being awarded to 10 beginners and six intermediates.

It was suggested that all board members attend graduation ceremonies held at the completion of the swim programs. To date, they have been well attended and well received. Final ceremonies for the season will be held Saturday, August 16.

Beef Breeding Prize Winners Are Announced

The Grand Champion Angus in the beef breeding classes at the Pickaway County Fair was won by David Long with the Reserve Angus award going to Mike Allen.

The Champion Hereford award was given to Randy Metzger with the Reserve Hereford prize awarded to Nancy Schein.

Steve Johnson took the Champion Shorthorn award at the fair and Cathy Barthen won the Reserve Shorthorn award.

Kennedy . . .

"We continue to have requests for him to speak," said Harris.

Sen. Inouye, chairman of the Senate Democratic campaign committee, said the group "has plans to utilize his many talents."

"I'm certain Sen. Kennedy will participate in campaigns outside his state," Inouye said.

Inouye said he had checked with Democrats who had asked for Kennedy's campaign help, and no one had changed his mind.

Kennedy is rated a top-heavy favorite in his own re-election bid in Massachusetts.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said Massachusetts had given Kennedy the verdict of support he sought.

Even before the accident, McCarthy said, he considered the Democratic presidential situation "pretty fluid."

"I don't think Kennedy ever had the presidential thing locked up, three or four years before the convention," McCarthy said. "No one ever has—not even incumbents."

Machinists Vote To End Walkout

BRYAN, Ohio (AP) — Members of the International Union of Machinists and Aero Space Workers approved a new contract Wednesday, ending a seven-week strike at two Aero Corp. plants here.

Schedule Funds For Armstrong Space Museum

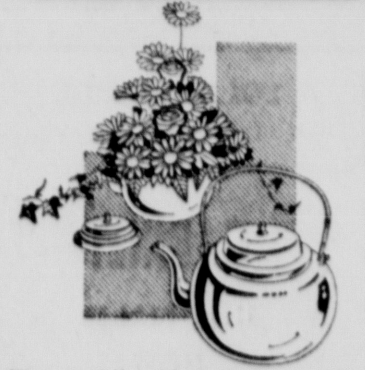

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The proposed Neil Armstrong Museum in Wapakoneta would have $500,000 in construction funds under an amendment adopted Wednesday by the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee amended the administration's $414.7 million capital improvements bill to eliminate three Department of Public Works appropriations to provide the funds. The bill earlier passed the House.

The money would come from historic site preservation, $375,000; acquisition of historic easements, $100,000 and Wellsville River Museum, $25,000.

HOWARD G. JUDD JR.

John Harbaugh accepted the responsibilities of vice chairman for a second term. Eddie Reynolds continues as treasurer and Shirley Edsel will serve as board secretary.

Five new board members were introduced. They are Mrs. William Winter, representing Walnut Twp.; Mrs. Jack Clark, representing Williamsport; Mrs. Jo Ann Sanders, registered nurse; John Sanders, representing REACT and Rescue and Mrs. Shirley Edsel, of the city.

CHAIRMAN Judd announced that Jack Mader will serve as Blood Program chairman, a post he so capably filled when former chairman, Sam Foster, was transferred from the city. Concerning the Blood Program, Rotary Club has advised they will continue to be responsible for promoting Bloodmobile visits.

An emergency arose recently when a surgical patient at Berger Hospital was in need of quantities of blood not readily available. Through the efforts of the chapter's executive secretary Mrs. Roliff Wolford, donors were recruited and the blood needs of the patient were met.

Mrs. Wolford, in thanking the donors, added that she would see that Pickaway County would be credited with the blood donations as pertains to the county's established quota.

Mrs. Wolford also reported service to 46 military families during the month and coordinated disaster aid for two county families. One family suffered storm damage, the other lost home and possessions in a fire. Area residents response to Red Cross' requests for aid was most gratifying, according to Mrs. Wolford.

Mike Alkire announced that the last two weeks of The Red Cross Swim Program will commence Monday. At present, there are openings in the 9 a.m. class only. Anyone who hasn't signed up and wishes to do so should contact Red Cross.

In his report, Mike stated that the Adult Swim Program had been very successful with certificates being awarded to 10 beginners and six intermediates.

It was suggested that all board members attend graduation ceremonies held at the completion of the swim programs. To date, they have been well attended and well received. Final ceremonies for the season will be held Saturday, August 16.

Kennedy . . .

"We continue to have requests for him to speak," said Harris. Sen. Inouye, chairman of the Senate Democratic campaign committee, said the group "has plans to utilize his many talents."

"I'm certain Sen. Kennedy will participate in campaigns outside his state," Inouye said.

Inouye said he had checked with Democrats who had asked for Kennedy's campaign help, and no one had changed his mind.

Kennedy is rated a top-heavy favorite in his own re-election bid in Massachusetts.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said Massachusetts had given Kennedy the verdict of support he sought.

Even before the accident, McCarthy said, he considered the Democratic presidential situation "pretty fluid."

"I don't think Kennedy ever had the presidential thing locked up, three or four years before the convention," McCarthy said. "No one ever has—not even incumbents."

Schedule Funds For Armstrong Space Museum

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The proposed Neil Armstrong Museum in Wapakoneta would have $500,000 in construction funds under an amendment adopted Wednesday by the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee amended the administration's $147.7 million capital improvements bill to eliminate three Department of Public Works appropriations to provide the funds. The bill earlier passed the House.

The money would come from historic site preservation, $375,000; acquisition of historic easements, $100,000 and Wellsville River Museum, $25,000.

Dear Abby: His Checks Bounce Wildly!

DEAR ABBY: My 47-year-old husband of 25 years is a living doll, but he is driving me to distraction with his check writing!

We have a joint checking account, but I have learned from experience that I don't dare write a check for even two dollars because it might bounce.

My husband writes checks like crazy without listing them, so consequently we never know how much we have in our account.

When we were first married our checking account got into such a mess that we closed that account and opened up a new one in another bank. Pretty soon we were all messed up again, and had to close that account. Well, we are on our FIFTH bank now, and it looks like we're going to have to find a new bank again.

What's the solution, Abby? My husband is really a sweet guy, but when it comes to writing checks, he's a big jerk.

JUDY: Insist that your checkmate turn in his checkbook. If he refuses, face it, you're married to a "living doll" who is really a sweet guy, but when it comes to writing checks, he's a big jerk.

DEAR ABBY: My parents were divorced 24 years ago. I was an infant at the time. My mother received no child support and my father never remembered me on my birthday or Christmas. It was like I never had a father.

My mother is now in the process of divorcing her fourth husband, and my father was just divorced by his third wife. And guess what? My parents have "re-discovered" each other and are planning to get married!

I am so embarrassed I can't tell you.

Rogers Gives Okinawa Plan

TOKYO (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers offered Japan a counterproposal on Okinawa Wednesday believed aimed at preserving the striking power of the big American base there.

Rogers made his suggestion in a new round of secret talks with Japanese Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi over the problem of the return of the Ryukyu Islands, of which Okinawa is the largest.

American officials later said their 90-minute meeting was useful and constructive but that some fairly important points were still open. The two men agreed to meet again in Washington prior to the United Nations General Assembly opening Sept. 16.

The nature of the counterproposal was not revealed, but the American position is generally well known. It calls for free American use of the bases after the United States gives up its 24-year rule of the Ryukyus to Japan. American nuclear weapons stockpile based in the islands would remain. The islands were captured by U.S. forces in World War II.

The Japanese are asking that the bases be subjected to the prior consultation provisions of the present U.S.-Japan security treaty and that the nuclear weapons be removed.

Next, put a lacy nightie on, spray yourself and the bedclothes with a lovely fragrance, and I guarantee you this will pep up your marriage.

If your husband is one of those who is too lazy to bathe and expects you to be loving anyway, keep moving. Also, spray the room with air freshener, say, "Whew" all the time you're spraying, and when you're thru, keep fanning the air with a newspaper.

I am no nut. I'm a married woman with four kids by three different husbands and none of my marriages have been dull. Life is short, girls, so live it up, and love it up. I never met a man I didn't find sexy in some way.

Largely-Unused Church Center Of Storm

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Does a tax-exempt church building belong solely to the people who operate it? Or can its doors be pried open for use by the poor and disadvantaged neighbors in a community?

The issue has surfaced in a predominantly Negro neighborhood of North Philadelphia. Militant Negroes seized and occupied for eight days a largely unused church, whose white congregation has dwindled.

A judge ruled the occupation was illegal.

Others argued that the action was justified.

The Cookman United Methodist church now is open only for regular Sunday services, attended by less than half the 127 members of the congregation.

The church building includes a basketball court and nine classrooms. The Philadelphia Black Economic Development Conference, part of a national movement seeking $500 million in reparations from churches and synagogues, decided Cookman should belong to the community.

On July 3, about 75 persons entered the church, evicted the janitor, and opened the doors to neighborhood residents.

Leaflets circulated after the seizure said:

"Watch the 300 smiling faces of children being instructed, busily playing table tennis, basketball, shooting pool. These children were not here until the community liberated the church."

"What is this city coming to when people take over other people's property?" asked Paul D'Ortona, president of the City Council.

Methodist Bishop J. Gordon

Howard of Philadelphia ordered the two-story, stone building evacuated. When those inside refused, he agreed to court action.

Judge Robert N. C. Nix Jr. of Common Pleas Court, son of the state's only Negro congressman, granted an injunction ordering them out of the church.

More than 200 police stood by and most occupiers left the building in compliance with the order. But eight ministers, including one white, refused to leave. They were arrested as they knelt at an altar and later were charged with contempt of court.

Judge Nix asserted that some leaders of "the black movement are concerned only with their own interests," and that the seizure had overtones of criminal activity.

"It is unfortunate that elements of the white community have dispensed funds as a result of a barrage of threats and intimidation," Nix said. "Former injustices to Negroes will not be blotted out by the indiscriminate giving of monies, services and sympathies."

The Rev. James E. Woodruff, Negro urban missionary of the Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania and one of those arrested, said: "We maintain that the law of God cannot be judged by the law of man."

The Rev. Frank V. Kensill, pastor of Cookman and three other little-used, predominantly white Methodist churches in the same Negro neighborhood said those who seized his church were revolutionists and irresponsible people.

Dr. George Hippel, executive secretary of the Philadelphia Missionary and Church Extension Society of the Methodist Church, said he was willing to meet with community leaders to find out how Cookman could best be utilized.

But, "We definitely will not hand over the keys to the church to them," he said.

Meanwhile, the church remains closed except for Sunday services.

Other recreational facilities nearby, all open to the community, are largely ignored.

It costs a quarter for youngsters to swim at the YMCA pool and a playground operated by the Salvation Army requires an annual membership fee of 75 cents.

Lois DeHoff, the playground supervisor, said she maintains strict discipline.

"Many children would rather play on the streets than come here," she said.

hardly hold my head up. I love my mother, but I told her if she marries that man she can forget that I'm her daughter.

Am I wrong to be so bitter? Or must I smile and act like I think it's the greatest idea since sliced bread. Thank you.

SOUR GRAPES
DEAR SOUT: If you "love" your mother, change your tune. Actually, HER happiness is more important than YOUR face.

DEAR ABBY: For the woman who wished they'd quit writing articles telling WOMEN how to hold their men, and instead write a few telling MEN how to hold their WOMEN: They say one of the main ways for a man to get more "loving" is to BATHE regularly. How true!

Sometimes words won't do it. I recommend the following: Place all his shaving stuff, deodorant, talcum powder, and cologne together where he can see it in the bathroom. Then with your lipstick, draw a big red heart on the bathroom mirror. Then make an arrow pointing to the shaving stuff, deodorant, etc. Then put some lipstick on your lips and kiss the mirror. (don't worry, it's easy to wipe off.) This is very sexy and unless he's dead, he'll get the message.

Next, put a lacy nightie on, spray yourself and the bedclothes with a lovely fragrance, and I guarantee you this will pep up your marriage.

If your husband is one of those who is too lazy to bathe and expects you to be loving anyway, keep moving. Also, spray the room with air freshener, say, "Whew" all the time you're spraying, and when you're thru, keep fanning the air with a newspaper.

High Court Won't Quash Hodges Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday denied Mark D. Hodges' request to be freed from a first-degree murder charge in Wood County.

The high court rejected a contention by Hodges' attorneys that he had not received a speedy trial as required by law. Hodges was indicted last December.

"Six months delay, which is at least partially the result of the plaintiff's own action, does not constitute the denial of a speedy trial," the court said.

Hodges is accused of the October 1967 slaying of Karen Kern, 20, of Sylvania, niece of Ohio AFL-CIO President Frank King. At that time, King also was Democratic leader in the Ohio Senate.

The girl's nude body, containing 10 knife and bullet wounds, was found along a rural Wood County road on Oct. 30, 1967, the day after she was reported missing while returning home from a visit with friends in Illinois.

Hodges also was charged in Henry County with shooting with intent to wound a Napoleon girl. He was tried twice on that charge, the second trial resulting in acquittal in December 1968.

Hodges then was taken to Bowling Green to face the murder charge.

Sharpen Probe Of SEC Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Partisan fighting has sharpened the Senate probe into possible conflict-of-interest charges against Securities and Exchange Commission Chairman Hamer H. Budge.

A party-line split developed even before the first witness testified Wednesday during a hearing into Budge's consideration of a lucrative job offer with a group of mutual funds regulated by the SEC.

Democrats on the Senate banking and currency subcommittee questioned the propriety of Budge's actions and Republicans argued the President Nixon appointee was being convicted before being tried.

The hearing recessed before Budge could testify about the offer of the presidency of six Minneapolis-based funds managed by Investors Diversified Services Inc. He was told to return to the subcommittee Monday to present his case.

Other testimony, said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., showed "a gross, clear, transparent conflict of interest."

This drew a rebuke from Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., who said, "On the evidence we've had so far, you can't even in common sense come to that conclusion."

The president of the funds, Harold Bradford, testified Budge rejected the presidency on two occasions and "at no time" solicited the job.

Minutes of a board meeting of fund directors—read by subcommittee chairman Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J.—quoted a company lawyer as saying Budge told him "he would like to accept the offer but his boss (Nixon) might like him to stay on the job till he finds a successor."

The presidency would have paid $80,000 a year to Budge, who earns $40,000 annually as SEC chairman.

Proxmire and Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said the significant aspect of a possible conflict of interest was that Budge was negotiating for a job at the same time the SEC was advising Congress on legislation which would drastically revise mutual fund regulations and have a strong bearing on the funds' business.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, argued, "The fact is, he rejected the offer and I think we are going into this thing backwards."

Proxmire said Budge should have refused to negotiate at all.

Thundershowers also dampened scattered sections of the Rockies and the Southeast.

Clear skies were widespread over the Far West and through most of the eastern third of the nation, including Atlanta coastal areas hit by recent heavy rains.

Tropical storm Anna, weakened but still potentially dangerous, swirled toward the eastern edge of the Caribbean. The storm, centered more than 500 miles east-southeast of Puerto Rico, carried peak winds estimated at 55 miles an hour.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 48 at Dickinson, N.D., to 100 at Needles, Calif.

Cooler Air Brings Rain To Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool air rolling across the north-central states today set off thunderstorms from the Central Plains to the western Great Lakes.

One to 1½ inches of rain soaked portions of Minnesota and North Dakota during the night. Temperatures fell into the 50s, and occasionally lower, with passage of the cold front.

Thundershowers also dampened scattered sections of the Rockies and the Southeast.

Clear skies were widespread over the Far West and through most of the eastern third of the nation, including Atlanta coastal areas hit by recent heavy rains.

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

"Binky Brothers, Detectives" by James Lawrence. Everybody loves a mystery, and six-to-eight-year olds are no exception. This book is for them. The Binky brothers set up a detective agency. Dinky, being the younger received only a fourth of the company earnings when they located a lost turtle. But he solved the big case (found the stolen catcher's mitt) and got Pinky to split the fee with him—fifty-fifty. Grades 1-3.

"Goodbye, Dove Square" by Janet McNeill. Dove Square was the old address of Matt, Henry, and Madge. Now they lived in a fancy new housing development. But they missed the feeling of continuity and solidity of the comfortable old houses. Somehow, in the new neighborhood, people kept more to themselves. What was the use of having a front door if you didn't keep it closed? Matt and Madge went back to old Dove Square for a nostalgic visit, and became involved in the mystery of Shakey Frick, who was holed up in one of the alleys off the Square. Boys and girls who read this story will encounter unfamiliar British expressions such as "Toff," "on about," and "cooker". For that reason, it is recommended for grades 6-7-8.

"National Holidays around the World" by Lavinia Dobler. In calendar order, here are the patriotic national holidays of countries from Afghanistan to Zambia. Each country's celebration is discussed and there is a clear description of its flag. A few illustrations show native costumes. Reference grades 4-6.

"Operation Sippacik" by Rumer Godden. "Sippacik" means "very small young donkey". His story is laid on Cyprus, where the Greeks and the Turks had been fighting for many years. Now the blue berets were there, trying to keep peace, sent in by the United Nations. Sippacik was bought by the blue berets to carry supplies, and he and his master, young Rifat, had many an adventure with the soldiers before Rifat owned the donkey for himself. Rumer Godden has written many adult stories. Indeed, as with the "Kitchen Madonna", it is sometimes difficult to discern whether she is writing for adults or for juveniles. This is a strong story, but it has a large cast of characters with unfamiliar names. The book has some two dozen fine illustrations by Capt. James Bryan, RAEC.

"The Pilgrim, Brave Settlers of Plymouth" by Lynn Groh. This factual account of the day-to-day living of the Pilgrims is based on Governor Bradford's journal. Bradford served as governor of Plymouth Colony for thirty-two years, and kept an accurate record of the daily happenings in the colony. Grades 4-6.

"The New World of Food" by Alfred Lewis. On a junior level, this is a scholarly treatment of

Man Gives 75,000 Books Away

BOSTON (AP) — Rather than pay movers to haul off 75,000 books, George Gloss will give them away Thursday.

In what he calls his "Third Great Giveaway," the proprietor of the Brattle Book Shop will allow 50 persons at a time into the store in five-minute relays.

Gloss has been just one step ahead of the Boston Redevelopment Authority since 1962, when he cleaned out his soon-to-be-demolished shop by giving away 25,000 books.

In 1964, he had to move again, this time giving away 50,000 books.

"The last two times," he said, "only scraps of paper were left. There is no restriction as to the amount of books taken or the type of bag or box employed."

He estimates the 75,000 volumes he will give away could have eventually been sold for $75,000. Gloss is headed for a new location, his fourth in seven years.

2 From Napoleon To Face Charges

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Hager L. Smith, 27, and Marvin F. Ferguson, 24, both of Napoleon, will be taken to Fort Wayne, Ind., to face charges of manufacturing and passing counterfeit money.

The two, charged by the Secret Service, waived extradition to Indiana during arraignment here Wednesday before a U.S. commissioner.

all aspects of food, from individual needs to agriculture and preservation and world distribution. Grades 4-6.

Kuznetsov Defects; See Red Crackdown

By JOHN WEYLAND
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The defection of Soviet writer Anatoli V. Kuznetsov will probably lead to a further crackdown on the arts in the Soviet Union.

The Kremlin is expected to try to make sure that no other writers critical of the Soviet system attain enough standing to be able to embarrass the Kremlin.

Kuznetsov disappeared Monday night during a visit to Britain, and the British government announced Wednesday that he had been granted permission to live permanently in Britain. The writer said he defected because he feared reprisals if he returned to Russia.

The leadership that ousted Nikita Khrushchev in 1964 has shown a consistent pattern of restricting the few outposts of liberalism that remain in Russia.

Writers Andrei Sinyavsky and Yuli Daniel were given stiff prison sentences in 1966 for what the state decided were anti-Soviet writings. This was a clear warning that the Khrushchev thaw had ended.

Other actions against liberals or champions of artistic freedom followed. Recently Yevgeny Yevtushenko, perhaps the best known young Soviet poet abroad, was dropped from the editorial board of the magazine Yunost (Youth). Rumors have been circulating that Alexander Tvardovsky would be ousted from the editorship of Novy Mir (New World), a magazine that has resisted the more extreme forms of sycophancy toward the system.

Ironically, Kuznetsov was one of the new members put on the Yunost board after the purge of the Yevtushenko group. That the 39-year-old author enjoyed this trust just before his defection can be counted on to increase official wrath against him.

The government might prefer to ignore his case altogether. No matter what is said, the embarrassing fact will remain that he left the country even though enjoying a privileged position.

But Western news broadcasts beamed into the Soviet Union will make the public aware of his defection, and the government will then want to make its side known. This has been the procedure before.

Kuznetsov should get particularly harsh treatment because he apparently was considered a trusted Communist although at least two of his books were severely criticized. He would not have been permitted to leave the country if there had been serious doubts about his loyalty.

The last well known Soviet writer to defect, Valery Tarsis, was deprived of his Soviet citizenship when he fled to Britain in 1966. The Soviet authorities accused him of being a madman after he asserted that communism in this country had degenerated into "police fascism."

This a favorite Kremlin device both for dealing with defectors and with dissenters within the country and defectors. The reasoning is that anybody who finds life in the Soviet Union unsatisfactory cannot be in his right mind.

Kuznetsov's novel "Babi Yar" was condemned by conservative Soviet Communists because it told of Russian and Ukrainian collaboration in the Nazi massacre of the Jews during the World War II occupation of the Ukraine. His recent novel

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

"Binky Brothers, Detectives" by James Lawrence. Everybody loves a mystery, and six-to-eight-year olds are no exception. This book is for them. The Binky brothers set up a detective agency. Dinky, being the younger received only a fourth of the company earnings when they located a lost turtle. But he solved the big case (found the stolen catcher's mitt) and got Pinky to split the fee with him—fifty-fifty. Grades 1-3.

"Goodbye, Dove Square" by Janet McNeill. Dove Square was the old address of Matt, Henry, and Madge. Now they lived in a fancy new housing development. But they missed the feeling of continuity and solidity of the comfortable old houses. Somehow, in the new neighborhood, people kept more to themselves. What was the use of having a front door if you didn't keep it closed? Matt and Madge went back to old Dove Square for a nostalgic visit, and became involved in the mystery of Shakey Frick, who was holed up in one of the alleys off the Square. Boys and girls who read this story will encounter unfamiliar British expressions such as "Toff," "on about," and "cooker". For that reason, it is recommended for grades 6-7-8.

"National Holidays around the World" by Lavinia Dobler. In calendar order, here are the patriotic national holidays of countries from Afghanistan to Zambia. Each country's celebration is discussed and there is a clear description of its flag. A few illustrations show native costumes. Reference grades 4-6.

"Operation Sippacik" by Rumer Godden. "Sippacik" means "very small young donkey". His story is laid on Cyprus, where the Greeks and the Turks had been fighting for many years. Now the blue berets were there, trying to keep peace, sent in by the United Nations. Sippacik was bought by the blue berets to carry supplies, and he and his master, young Rifat, had many an adventure with the soldiers before Rifat owned the donkey for himself. Rumer Godden has written many adult stories. Indeed, as with the "Kitchen Madonna", it is sometimes difficult to discern whether she is writing for adults or for juveniles. This is a strong story, but it has a large cast of characters with unfamiliar names. The book has some two dozen fine illustrations by Capt. James Bryan, RAEC.

"The Pilgrim, Brave Settlers of Plymouth" by Lynn Groh. This factual account of the day-to-day living of the Pilgrims is based on Governor Bradford's journal. Bradford served as governor of Plymouth Colony for thirty-two years, and kept an accurate record of the daily happenings in the colony. Grades 4-6.

"The New World of Food" by Alfred Lewis. On a junior level, this is a scholarly treatment of

Man Gives 75,000 Books Away

BOSTON (AP) — Rather than pay movers to haul off 75,000 books, George Gloss will give them away Thursday.

In what he calls his "Third Great Giveaway," the proprietor of the Brattle Book Shop will allow 50 persons at a time into the store in five-minute relays.

Gloss has been just one step ahead of the Boston Redevelopment Authority since 1962, when he cleaned out his soon-to-be-demolished shop by giving away 25,000 books.

In 1964, he had to move again, this time giving away 50,000 books.

"The last two times," he said, "only scraps of paper were left. There is no restriction as to the amount of books taken or the type of bag or box employed."

He estimates the 75,000 volumes he will give away could have eventually been sold for $75,000. Gloss is headed for a new location, his fourth in seven years.

2 From Napoleon To Face Charges

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Hager L. Smith, 27, and Marvin F. Ferguson, 24, both of Napoleon, will be taken to Fort Wayne, Ind., to face charges of manufacturing and passing counterfeit money.

The two, charged by the Secret Service, waived extradition to Indiana during arraignment here Wednesday before a U.S. commissioner.

all aspects of food, from individual needs to agriculture and preservation and world distribution. Grades 4-6.

Kuznetsov Defects; See Red Crackdown

By JOHN WEYLAND
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The defection of Soviet writer Anatoli V. Kuznetsov will probably lead to a further crackdown on the arts in the Soviet Union.

The Kremlin is expected to try to make sure that no other writers critical of the Soviet system attain enough sanding to be able to embarrass the Kremlin.

Kuznetsov disappeared Monday night during a visit to Britain, and the British government announced Wednesday that he had been granted permission to live permanently in Britain. The writer said he defected because he feared reprisals if he returned to Russia.

The leadership that ousted Nikita Khrushchev in 1964 has shown a consistent pattern of restricting the few outposts of liberalism that remain in Russia.

Writers Andrei Sinyavsky and Yuli Daniel were given stiff prison sentences in 1966 for what the state decided were anti-Soviet writings. This was a clear warning that the Khrushchev thaw had ended.

Other actions against liberals or champions of artistic freedom followed. Recently Yevgeny Yevtushenko, perhaps the best known young Soviet poet abroad, was dropped from the editorial board of the magazine Yunost (Youth). Rumors have been circulating that Alexander Tvardovsky would be ousted from the editorship of Novy Mir (New World), a magazine that has resisted the more extreme forms of sycophancy toward the system.

Ironically, Kuznetsov was one of the new members put on the Yunost board after the purge of the Yevtushenko group. That the 39-year-old author enjoyed this trust just before his defection can be counted on to increase official wrath against him.

The government might prefer to ignore his case altogether. No matter what is said, the embarrassing fact will remain that he left the country even though enjoying a privileged position.

But Western news broadcasts beamed into the Soviet Union will make the public aware of his defection, and the government will then want to make its side known. This has been the procedure before.

Kuznetsov should get particularly harsh treatment because he apparently was considered a trusted Communist although at least two of his books were severely criticized. He would not have been permitted to leave the country if there had been serious doubts about his loyalty.

The last well known Soviet writer to defect, Valery Tarsis, was deprived of his Soviet citizenship when he fled to Britain in 1966. The Soviet authorities accused him of being a madman after he asserted that communism in this country had degenerated into "police fascism."

This favorite Kremlin device both for dealing with defectors and with dissenters within the country and defectors. The reasoning is that anybody who finds life in the Soviet Union unsatisfactory cannot be in his right mind.

Kuznetsov's novel "Babi Yar" was condemned by conservative Soviet Communists because it told of Russian and Ukrainian collaboration in the Nazi massacre of the Jews during the World War II occupation of the Ukraine. His recent novel

Named To Chamber

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Paul D. Ross, regional vice president of the General Electric Co. in Cleveland, has been elected to the board of directors of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, the chamber announced Wednesday.

OHIO CASH GRAIN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Dept. of Agri. cash grain prices: No. 2 red wheat 2 higher 1.09-1.14, mostly 1.13-1.14; No. 2 yellow corn 1-2 higher 1.14-1.18, mostly 1.15-1.17; No. 2 oats unchanged to 1 higher .50-.60 mostly .54-.55; soybeans higher 2.49-2.57, mostly 2.49-2.54.

"Fire" was attacked because it portrayed Soviet workers as "cynics, scoundrels, self-seekers and alcoholics," in the words of one critical journal. The London Daily Telegraph, which Kuznetsov contacted when he decided to defect, said the author's wife had left him some time ago and took their 9-year-old son. She is reported on a holiday in the south of Russia.

President To Find Problems Piling Up On Pakistan Visit

12 The Circleville Herald, Thur. July 31, 1969
Circleville, Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pakistan, last stop on President Nixon's Asian tour, is a land divided by 1,100 miles of hostile territory that belongs to India.

Kashmir, where they fought until a U. N. cease fire early in 1949.

India and Pakistan went to war for 22 days in September 1965 over Kashmir until the United Nations again halted the conflict. The war prompted the United States to cut off arms aid to both countries. This led to a cooling of U.S.-Pakistani relations since, unlike India, Pakistan had a mutual defense agreement with Washington.

The United States had been the chief supplier of aid to undeveloped Pakistan but in recent years Pakistan has looked more and more to the Soviet Union and has improved relations with Red China.

Relations between the United States and Pakistan undoubtedly will be discussed by Nixon with President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan. President Khan took over as ruler of the nation of 76 million when Mohammed Ayub Khan quit as president last March under the pressure of riotous opposition to his stern rule.

An Islamic republic, Pakistan has been troubled by its own division. Crowded East Pakistan has 42 million of the population against West Pakistan's 34 million.

Cuyahoga County Tax Reaches Court

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cuyahoga County's one-half of one per cent sales tax will not go into effect unless an upcoming trial finds in favor of the county commissioners.

Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Talty issued a temporary restraining order Tuesday preventing the tax from being collected. The tax was to go into effect Friday. Talty said a trial on the legality and constitutionality of the tax would begin after Labor Day.

SDS Claims Columbus Tactics Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The national secretary of Students for a Democratic Society says Columbus police are using "clearly illegal" and "typical fascist tactics" to persecute SDS members charged with inciting to riot.

"We intend to fight this in any way," said Mark Rudd, who added that New York lawyers may be brought to Columbus to defend members of the organization.

Rudd, hero of radicals at Columbia University's uprising during the spring of 1968, met with newsmen Wednesday during a brief stop here.

He said the arrest of SDS members for passing out leaflets following racial rioting last week on the city's near East Side was a clear violation of their Constitutional rights.

Police say four youths charged with inciting to riot are being held in lieu of $25,000 bond. Five others charged with being suspicious persons have been released on $200 bond, officials said.

Leaflets distributed in the predominantly Negro area denounced "thieving businessmen" and "lying politicians" and attacked use of "pig cops" and National Guardsmen to put down the rioting.

Rudd said the police crackdown on SDS members was an attempt by the "fascist power structure" of Columbus to find a scapegoat to blame for the rebellion rather than correcting the problems that incited the violence in the first place.

Wadsworth Citizens Rally For College

WADSWORTH, Ohio (AP)—An estimated 1,000 Wadsworth area citizens rallied on the downtown square Wednesday in support for establishment of a permanent Kent State University branch here.

Wadsworth has operated a branch for 10 years and now has 700 students housed in temporary day and night classroom facilities.

Students On Tour Of U.S. Find Many Surprises Await

NEW YORK (AP)—To Michael Scholtissek of West Germany, the United States is "the generosity of its people." To Virpi Salminen of Finland, it's "shopping centers." And to Koos Dalstra of Holland, it's the fact that "everything is so big here."

Michael, Virpi and Koos are among 800 European high school students who spent the past year living with American families under the auspices of the Youth for Understanding program. The group sailed for home late Wednesday night aboard the SS Aurelia.

The youngsters, almost all of whom spoke excellent English and looked just like American teen-agers, reminisced about their year in the United States at a pre-sailing news conference.

"I tried not to have any expectations," said Michael, 18, when asked whether he found the United States different than he had imagined. He said he found no difference between American and German teen-agers, but added, "Here everyone can do what they want to do. You're not labeled." Michael spent the year with a Los Angeles family.

Virpi, an 18-year-old blonde who stayed with a family in Virginia Beach, Va., said of the United States, "Actually, I didn't expect anything. Everything seemed to be so different—like the shopping centers and the hot weather."

One surprise Virpi got was the length of skirts. "Before I left," she said, "I was told skirts here were long so I had to lengthen all my skirts. When I came here, I just had to shorten them again."

She said teen-agers here and in Finland are pretty much the same, but "American youth is more mature." Asked about American boys, she rolled her eyes slightly and said, "very nice, quite polite."

Koos, 19, said he found American life "very casual." He said, "There is more room here, you breathe freer."

Study Probation For Joey Naples

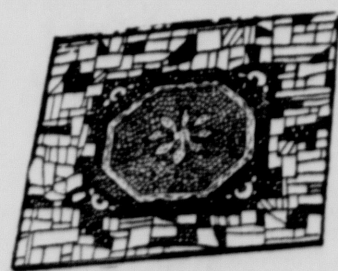

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Mahoning County Common Pleas Judge Sidney Rigelhaupt is expected to hear a motion next week that would grant probation to Joseph (Joey) Naples of Youngstown.

Naples was sentenced to two concurrent terms for felonies by the late Common Pleas Judge John W. Ford in December, 1962. Naples has appealed and been in and out of prison during legal moves. Only recently, he was returned to serve the remainder of the two terms, one 1-to-10 years for promoting a numbers game and the other for 1-to-7 years for receiving stolen property.

Naples is the brother of the late Sandy Naples and Billy Naples, racket figures who were slain in gangland fashion early in the 1960's before Joey Naples was convicted.

Stokes Won't Back Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes declined Tuesday to endorse Mayor John V. Lindsay for re-election.

"I do not feel it is proper to comment on local elections," said Stokes, a Democrat, when asked if he planned to endorse the Republican mayor.

Stokes, first Negro mayor of a major American city, appeared at a news conference with Lindsay in Gracie Mansion.

He announced plans to form in Cleveland a Criminal Justice Coordinating Council similar to one here. Main purpose of the council, Stokes said, will be to streamline the administration of justice.

Stokes, who testified Monday before a Congressional committee in Washington, said he came to New York to "talk about another tool to make homes and streets safer."

Abbie Hoffman Says Jail Stay Brought Illness

WASHINGTON (AP)—Abbie Hoffman, Youth International Party leader and perennial anti-war demonstrator has filed a $300,000 damage action charging he contracted hepatitis while in a District of Columbia jail last October.

Hoffman, 33, claimed that either the needle or the vial used in a blood test carried germs that caused an infection. He said he suffered permanent physical injury, mental anguish, inconvenience, pain and suffering and loss of income in addition to medical expenses associated with the illness.

Named defendants were the D.C. government; the U.S. government; Kenneth L. Hardy, director of the D.C. Department of Corrections; and Charles Rodgers, superintendent of the D.C. jail.

Solons See Only Another Small Pullout In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Contrary to reports that substantial withdrawals may be in order, members of the Senate Armed Services Committee expect Gen. Earle G. Wheeler to recommend a gradual pullout of only 25,000 additional U.S. troops from Vietnam this year.

This was the clear impression Sens. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., George Murphy, R-Calif., and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said

they received when Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, testified Wednesday at a closed committee session.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., classed Wheeler's report on his recent Vietnam inspection tour as pessimistic about the battle-readiness of South Vietnamese replacements for the Americans.

Stennis said the process of turning over the defense responsibilities will take time.

"In the meantime, unless we adopt a different policy, we'll be doing a great share of the fighting," he said.

President Nixon has promised an August decision on whether more than the 25,000 U.S. servicemen already reassigned from Vietnam will be withdrawn.

Executive department officials are citing the relative lull in the fighting as pointing toward a potentially substantial American pullback.

But Nixon has listed the safety of remaining U.S. forces and the ability of South Vietnamese to take over their own defense as having top priority in any decision.

Young, a consistent Vietnam policy critic, said Wheeler "clearly indicated that the friendly forces of South Vietnam could not cope with the Viet Cong were we to bring more than 25,000 home this year."

Young called it a "discouraging briefing." He said Wheeler "stated and tried to indicate there isn't a vast difference of opinion between him and President Nixon."

Byrd and Murphy said Wheeler emphasized the safety of remaining American troops would permit only a relatively small American pullout, and that only on a gradual basis over a period of months.

Military leaders generally have been cautious about assessing the fighting lull, contending it may be only a regrouping period prior to fresh enemy attacks.

The senators felt Wheeler was basing his assessment on this possibility.

Grand Jury Probes Exam Irregularities

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Cuyahoga County Grand Jury has subpoenaed 52 more persons to appear for testimony in its investigation into alleged irregularities in Cleveland police civil services tests.

Those subpoenaed include 27 policemen, four police cadets, and seven members of the suburban Wickliffe police department. Others include managers and employees of three suburban motels.

SDS Claims Columbus Tactics Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The national secretary of Students for a Democratic Society says Columbus police are using "clearly illegal" and "typical fascist tactics" to persecute SDS members charged with inciting to riot.

"We intend to fight this in any way," said Mark Rudd, who added that New York lawyers may be brought to Columbus to defend members of the organization.

Rudd, hero of radicals at Columbia University's uprising during the spring of 1968, met with newsmen Wednesday during a brief stop here.

He said the arrest of SDS members for passing out leaflets following racial rioting last week on the city's near East Side was a clear violation of their Constitutional rights.

Police say four youths charged with inciting to riot are being held in lieu of $25,000 bond. Five others charged with being suspicious persons have been released on $200 bond, officials said.

Leaflets distributed in the predominantly Negro area denounced "thieving businessmen" and "lying politicians" and attacked use of "pig cops" and National Guardsmen to put down the rioting.

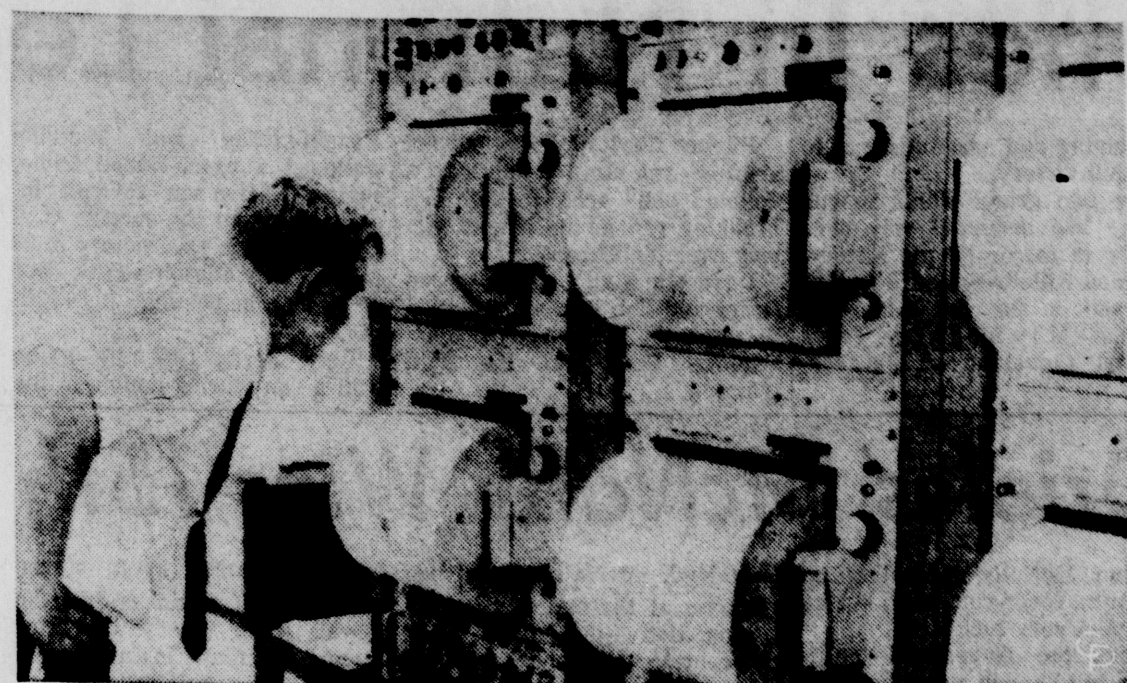

Rudd said the police crackdown on SDS members was an attempt by the "fascist power structure" of Columbus to find a scapegoat to blame for the rebellion rather than correcting the problems that incited the violence in the first place.

Wadsworth Citizens Rally For College

WADSWORTH, Ohio (AP)—An estimated 1,000 Wadsworth area citizens rallied on the downtown square Wednesday in support for establishment of a permanent Kent State University branch here.

Wadsworth has operated a branch for 10 years and now has 700 students housed in temporary day and night classroom facilities.

Students On Tour Of U.S. Find Many Surprises Await

NEW YORK (AP)—To Michael Scholtissek of West Germany, the United States is "the generosity of its people." To Virpi Salminen of Finland, it's "shopping centers." And to Koos Dalstra of Holland, it's the fact that "everything is so big here."

Michael, Virpi and Koos are among 800 European high school students who spent the past year living with American families under the auspices of the Youth for Understanding program. The group sailed for home late Wednesday night aboard the SS Aurelia.

The youngsters, almost all of whom spoke excellent English and looked just like American teen-agers, reminisced about their year in the United States at a pre-sailing news conference.

"I tried not to have any expectations," said Michael, 18, when asked whether he found the United States different than he had imagined. He said he found no difference between American and German teen-agers, but added, "Here everyone can do what they want to do. You're not labeled." Michael spent the year with a Los Angeles family.

Virpi, an 18-year-old blonde who stayed with a family in Virginia Beach, Va., said of the United States, "Actually, I didn't expect anything. Everything seemed to be so different—like the shopping centers and the hot weather."

One surprise Virpi got was the length of skirts. "Before I left," she said, "I was told skirts here were long so I had to lengthen all my skirts. When I came here, I just had to shorten them again."

She said teen-agers here and in Finland are pretty much the same, but "American youth is more mature." Asked about American boys, she rolled her eyes slightly and said, "very nice, quite polite."

Koos, 19, said he found American life "very casual." He said, "There is more room here, you breathe freer."

Study Probation For Joey Naples

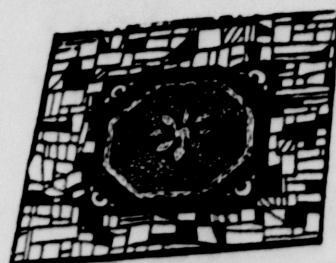

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Mahoning County Common Pleas Judge Sidney Rigelhaupt is expected to hear a motion next week that would grant probation to Joseph (Joey) Naples of Youngstown.

Naples was sentenced to two concurrent terms for felonies by the late Common Pleas Judge John W. Ford in December, 1962. Naples has appealed and been in and out of prison during legal moves. Only recently, he was returned to serve the remainder of the two terms, one 1-to-10 years for promoting a numbers game and the other for 1-to-7 years for receiving stolen property.

Naples is the brother of the late Sandy Naples and Billy Naples, racket figures who were slain in gangland fashion early in the 1960's before Joey Naples was convicted.

Stokes Won't Back Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes declined Tuesday to endorse Mayor John V. Lindsay for reelection.

"I do not feel it is proper to comment on local elections," said Stokes, a Democrat, when asked if he planned to endorse the Republican mayor.

Stokes, first Negro mayor of a major American city, appeared at a news conference with Lindsay in Gracie Mansion.

He announced plans to form in Cleveland a Criminal Justice Coordinating Council similar to one here. Main purpose of the council, Stokes said, will be to streamline the administration of justice.

Stokes, who testified Monday before a Congressional committee in Washington, said he came to New York to "talk about another tool to make homes and streets safer."

Abbie Hoffman Says Jail Stay Brought Illness

WASHINGTON (AP)—Abbie Hoffman, Youth International Party leader and perennial anti-war demonstrator has filed a $300,000 damage action charging he contracted hepatitis while in a District of Columbia jail last October.

Hoffman, 33, claimed that either the needle or the vial used in a blood test carried germs that caused an infection. He said he suffered permanent physical injury, mental anguish, inconvenience, pain and suffering and loss of income in addition to medical expenses associated with the illness.

Named defendants were the D.C. government; the U.S. government; Kenneth L. Hardy, director of the D.C. Department of Corrections; and Charles Rodgers, superintendent of the D.C. jail.

Solons See Only Another Small Pullout In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Contrary to reports that substantial withdrawals may be in order, members of the Senate Armed Services Committee expect Gen. Earle G. Wheeler to recommend a gradual pullout of only 25,000 additional U.S. troops from Vietnam this year.

This was the clear impression Sens. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., George Murphy, R-Calif., and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said

they received when Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, testified Wednesday at a closed committee session.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., classed Wheeler's report on his recent Vietnam inspection tour as pessimistic about the battle-readiness of South Vietnamese replacements for the Americans.

Stennis said the process of turning over the defense responsibilities will take time.

"In the meantime, unless we adopt a different policy, we'll be doing a great share of the fighting," he said.

President Nixon has promised an August decision on whether more than the 25,000 U.S. servicemen already reassigned from Vietnam will be withdrawn.

Executive department officials are citing the relative lull in the fighting as pointing toward a potentially substantial American pullback.

But Nixon has listed the safety of remaining U.S. forces and the ability of South Vietnamese to take over their own defense as having top priority in any decision.

Young, a consistent Vietnam policy critic, said Wheeler "clearly indicated that the friendly forces of South Vietnam could not cope with the Viet Cong were we to bring more than 25,000 home this year."

Young called it a "discouraging briefing." He said Wheeler "stated and tried to indicate there isn't a vast difference of opinion between him and President Nixon."

Byrd and Murphy said Wheeler emphasized the safety of remaining American troops would permit only a relatively small American pullout, and that only on a gradual basis over a period of months.

Military leaders generally have been cautious about assessing the fighting lull, contending it may be only a regrouping period prior to fresh enemy attacks.

The senators felt Wheeler was basing his assessment on this possibility.

Grand Jury Probes Exam Irregularities

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Cuyahoga County Grand Jury has subpoenaed 52 more persons to appear for testimony in its investigation into alleged irregularities in Cleveland police civil services tests.

Those subpoenaed include 27 policemen, four police cadets, and seven members of the suburban Wickliffe police department. Others include managers and employees of three suburban motels.

Big Home Runs Decide Games In National League

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pity poor Bob Tillman. The Atlanta Braves catcher cracked three consecutive home runs and still ran third in the long ball derby.

First the Houston Astros used the New York Mets pitchers as a blast-off pad in cracking a pair of grand slam homers in one inning, a National League record.

Then slugging Hank Aaron, Tillman's teammate no less, picked Wednesday night to slam his way into third place on the all-time list of home run hitters, clouting his 537th lifetime circuit, to pass former New York Yankees great, Mickey Mantle.

The Braves, in a homer-hitting two-night doubleheader, split with the Phillies at Philadelphia, winning the first 6-3 on five homers, three by Tillman, Aaron's 27th and a solo shot by Felipe Alou.

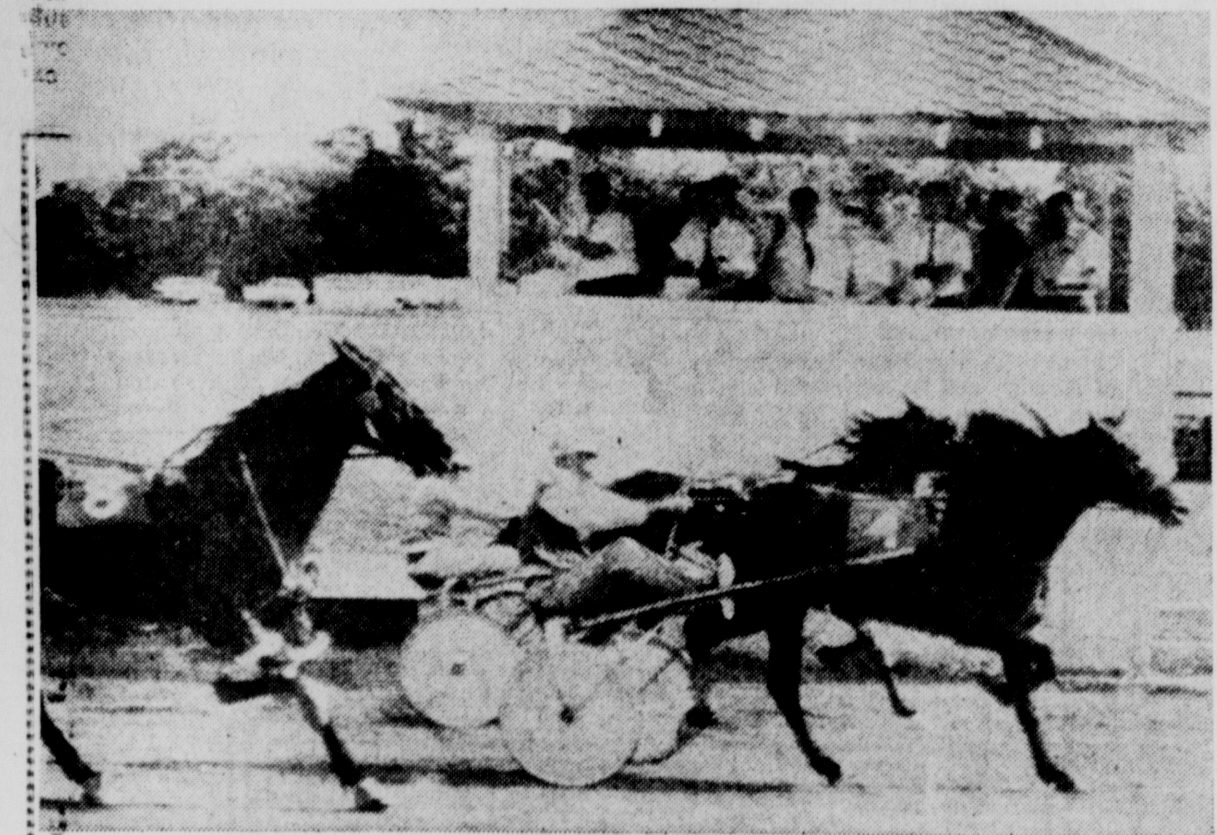

The Phils came back in the nightcap to nip the Braves 4-3 on Richie Allen's eighth inning homer, his second of the game. Johnny Callison's homer had tied it earlier in the inning.

In afternoon games Houston swept past the Mets in a doubleheader, 16-3 and 11-5 and San Francisco whipped Chicago 6-3. In night action St. Louis stopped San Diego 5-2, Cincinnati rapped Montreal 5-3 and Pittsburgh downed Los Angeles 4-2.

In American League games, Chicago belted Cleveland 11-6, Baltimore stopped Kansas City 4-2, Detroit trimmed Minnesota 3-1, the New York Yankees edged Oakland 3-2, California beat Boston 4-1 and Seattle edged Washington 4-3.

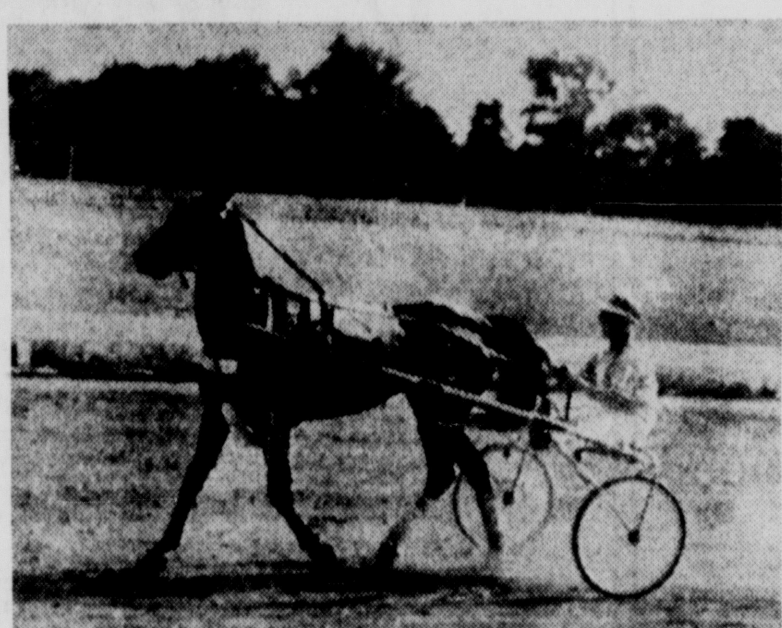

Before the doubleheader began, Tillman said he was hitting everything off the end of his bat.

Fair Harness Race Program Complete

BY A HEAD — RKR, owned and driven by Jackie Johns of Washington C. H. nips Never Say Die at the wire to win the first heat of the second division of the third race. RKR trotted the mile in 2:18.

The Pickaway County Fair Harness racing program concluded Wednesday with Dave Bloom and Abbe K. Abbe emerging as twin heat winners in the first and second races.

A FIRST — For the first time in the history of Pickaway County Fair harness racing, two girls drove. Janey Irvine, daughter of Don Irvine, jogs her father's trotter, Miss Dag, just before the third race. Sherry Indestad reined Miracle Stone in the first race.

BOTH trips of the race, a conditioned pace for non-winners of $1,000 in 1968, went in 2:09 with Bob Davenport of Galena in the sulky behind his own Dave Bloom.

The second heat of the race, Levester, owned by William R. and Madeline Sheahan, New York, New York, and driven by Charlie Clark, was first in 2:18. Never Say Die was second in that heat.

Starlite Wick, with Don Moon in the sulky, was first in 2:15 in the first heat and second in the second trip of the third division. The second heat was won by Firey Dares in 2:16.2.

Second in the first heat was Dee Dee Rogers owned and driven by Vinal Link while Firey Dares was third. Dee Dee Rogers was third in the second heat.

Aaron said he baited Jackson. The first pitch was outside and "I leaned out over the plate for it. I hoped he'd come inside with a curve or slider. He did," Aaron said.

In the nightcap, Atlanta jumped out to a 2-0 lead but Allen's first homer—in his 20th—in the fourth with a man on, tied it. The Braves moved ahead 3-2 in the seventh on Felix Millan's run-scoring double but Callison knotted it with his 10th circuit and Allen followed with his game-winner.

The Astros set a National League record in slamming the two grand slams in one inning—the ninth of the first game—by Denis Menke and Jimmy Wynn as the Astros scored 11 times for an easy victory.

Larry Dierker rapped a two-run homer in the third inning of the nightcap, concluding a 10-run inning and eased his way to his 13th victory.

The two grand slams in one inning had occurred only once before in major league history. Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison did it for the American League Minnesota Twins against Cleveland on July 18, 1962.

Pitcher Gaylord Perry opened a three-run ninth inning with a double and scored the tie-breaking run in the Giants victory over the Cubs.

Dave Marshall's single scored Perry and Bob Burda's wrapped it up with a two-run double, sending Perry to his 13th triumph.

Light-hitting Dal Maxville walloped a bases-loaded triple, keying a five-run seventh inning, that sent the surging Cardinals to their 18th victory in 23 games. Bob Gibson struck out 13 Padres in posting his 13th win.

Tony Perez tied the game with a run-scoring double in the eighth inning and pinchhitter Ted Savage followed with a two-run double sending the Reds past the Expos.

Manny Sanguillen rapped a tie-breaking eighth inning single, helping the Pirates to their victory over the Dodgers. Sanguillen scored the insurance run on a single and passed ball.

Orioles' McNally Wins 15th Game

Cleveland, McNally, with two victories at the end of the 1968 season, tied Allen's mark of 17 consecutive triumphs over two seasons, 1936-37 and Allen's record of 15 straight victories at the start of a season, 1937.

McNally now is just one triumph away from the league mark of 16 successive victories in one season set by four pitchers.

In other games, Detroit slipped by Minnesota 3-1, California tumbled Boston 4-1, the New York Yankees beat Oakland 3-2, Seattle nipped Washington 4-3 and the Chicago White Sox blasted Cleveland 11-6.

McNally, who has only eight complete games in 26 starts, needed relief again against the Royals after the first batter opened the ninth inning with a single. Eddie Watt relieved and preserved McNally's 29th victory in his last 31 decisions, including a 12-game winning streak last season when he was 22-10.

Kansas City had scored two runs off him in the first inning, but he blanked them after that while the Orioles tied on Frank Robinson's 26th homer in the sixth and went ahead on Don Buford's two-run double in the seventh.

"It's amazing you can go that long without getting shut out," McNally, with a 2.83 earned run average, said in praise of his slugging teammates. "I can remember only one time I didn't get at least two runs."

He doesn't even believe he is pitching as well as he did the first part of last season when he was 8-8, but he couldn't explain it. "I'm just not throwing the ball as well, although I don't feel any pain in my arm."

White Sox Smash Tribe, Win 11-7 Tilt

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Six runs are usually more than enough to guarantee a victory for Cleveland Indians' southpaw Sam McDowell, but not Wednesday night when the Chicago White Sox bombarded him for seven runs enroute to an 11-7 victory.

Five of the Chicago runs came through the efforts of third baseman Bill Melton, who scored three times and drove home two other runs. He put the game on ice in the seventh inning with a three-run homer. "The ball Melton hit (in the seventh) was a fast ball low and inside," Indians' catcher Duke Sims said. "I tried to get (relief pitcher Horacio) Pina to get it in on his hands." The homer was Melton's 15th of the season.

McDowell was rocked for nine hits in his six innings of work as his record fell to 11-10 and the White Sox broke an eight-game losing streak.

There were some bright spots for the Indians, who blew a 5-2 lead they held after three innings.

Rookie Frank Baker had four hits in five at-bats, including a triple. Baker, recently called up from the Indians' Waterbury farm club, had 10 straight hits before joining the Tribe and has been working to overcome his major problem — "swinging at the first pitch too much."

Over 100 high school football candidates were reported to have attended the first night of physical conditioning at both Miami Trace and Washington C.H. high schools. Monday was the beginning of a three week "pre-pad" workout for the candidates.

At Miami Trace, coach John Beckley and his staff were hosts to 50 candidates in grades 10-12 while 56 candidates showed up for practice at Washington C.H. Both teams expected the number to swell after vacations.

Twelve seniors and 15 juniors were at the Panther practice, that was slightly larger than last year's turnout with 13 lettermen appearing.

Ten seniors and about 20 sophomores turned up for the WCH practice. Thirteen lettermen are expected to return by head coach Maurice Pfeifer.

Sam Snead Fights Nerves, Seems Victor

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — "Call it quits? No time—I'll play as long as these old legs and nerves can stand it," Sam Snead drawled.

The familiar coconut straw, at a jaunty angle, hid the balding pate of the 57-year-old golfing marvel. Tykes, refugees from Arnie's Army, swarmed around him for autographs. Middle-aged men in the gallery cheered their hero:

"Give 'em the devil, Sam!" "Go get 'em, Sam!"

The seemingly ageless Slammin' Sammy, perspiration streaming in small beads down his leathery face, elbowed his way through throngs of admirers at the Westchester Country Club and jested about his newly-discovered Fountain of Youth.

He had just shot a five-under-par 67 in the pro-am prelude to the $250,000 Westchester Classic Wednesday. A few days before, he had excited the sports world by trying for the Canadian Open crown and then losing in a close playoff to Tommy Aaron.

"Putting time? Nerves? I still fight 'em—I fight 'em like a tiger," he said. "Sure, I feel 'em out there but I grit my teeth and I say, 'You're not gonna whip me.'"

Snead, winner of more than 100 tour tournaments in a career covering more than 30 years, admitted that it's nerves—and not the legs or physical deterioration—that cuts short the career of the competitive golfer.

"Physically," Sam said, "I feel almost as strong as I ever did. From tee to green, I hit the ball as well as I did in the 1930s. It's putting that gets me. Nerves. I'm fighting 'em all the time."

Countess Cash Wins Scioto Downs Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Countess Cash won the $1,200 conditioned pace at Scioto Downs Wednesday night and paid $17.20, $8.40 and $4.40.

The winner toured the mile in 2:04 3/5 ahead of Betsie's Dream ($2.20 and $3.40) and Counsel B. ($3.60).

The 5-2 daily double combination of Meadow Dean and Midge's Boy paid $73.80. The quinnella, 3-5, paid $138.30.

Attendance was 3,699. Handle was $150,512.

Tommy Aaron Heads Westchester Field

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Tommy Aaron went into today's opening round of the $250,000 Westchester Classic a new man. He finally has the winners edge.

"I'm feeling great," the quiet, bespectacled Georgian said of his Monday's victory in the Canadian Open. "It's a great sense of accomplishment. I always wanted to know how winning feels."

Aaron has waited for that feeling for eight years, and when victory finally came, it came the hard way.

Cincy Reds' Poor Hitters Helping Them Win Games

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds are winning games these nights with significant help from the poorer hitters and the pinch hitters. Montreal felt the sting Wednesday night, 5-3.

But for five innings, the Reds were hardly in the game. Young Jerry Robertson, pitching in the majors for his first season, held them to four hits and no runs and turned back such batting powers as Tony Perez, Lee May and Johnny Bench.

Meanwhile, the Expos were riding a 3-0 lead grabbed in a first-inning attack.

Cincinnati's starting pitcher, Jim Maloney, broke the drought for the Reds in the sixth when he keyed a two-run burst with a solo homer. He left after seven innings for a pinch hitter, allowing only four hits.

Perez pulled the Reds even.

Independents Top Merchants, 7-2

The Circleville Independents topped the Circleville Merchants, 7-2 in the local slo-pitch league Wednesday night at Ted Lewis Park.

Ed Tomlinson smashed a home run for the winners while Terry Anderson got a double.

Roger Hurley tapped a homer for the Merchants and Jack Bailey copped a triple.

The winners scored seven runs on 11 hits while the Merchants got two runs on nine hits.

Before the doubleheader began, Tillman said he was hitting everything off the end of his bat.

"I was dribbling the ball. It looked like a bleak night," the 210-pounder said. But it only turned bleak for Phillies southpaw Grant Jackson, who served up all five Braves gophers.

Tillman hit his blasts in the second inning, in the fourth and sixth. The three gave him nine for the season and he went into the game hitting .176.

The 35-year-old Aaron, in his 16th major league season, smacked his 537th around the foul pole in left field in the third inning on a 1-0 pitch. It placed him third behind Babe Ruth, with 714, and the Giants' Willie Mays, who has 596—nine this year.

Aaron said he baited Jackson. The first pitch was outside and "I leaned over the plate for it. I hoped he'd come inside with a curve or slider. He did," Aaron said.

Fair Harness Race Program Complete

BY A HEAD — RKR, owned and driven by Jackie Johns of Washington C. H. nips Never Say Die at the wire to win the first heat of the second division of the third race. RKR trotted the mile in 2:18.

The Pickaway County Fair Harness racing program concluded Wednesday with Dave Bloom and Abbe K. Abbe emerging as twin heat winners in the first and second races.

In the third race, split into three divisions, Starlite Wick topped best in the summary with a win and a second place finish to take the trophy blanket presented by The Savings Bank. Tink's Tavern and Lindsey Bake Shop donated the trophies for the first and second races.

For the first time in the history of harness racing at the Pickaway County Fair, two drivers of the fairer sex were in the sulks.

Sherry Indestad reined Miracle Stone, owned by W. C. and E. N. Humphrey of Pomeroy, to a second place finish in the first heat of the first race and a fifth place finish in the second heat.

A FIRST — For the first time in the history of Pickaway County Fair harness racing, two girls drove. Janey Irvine, daughter of Don Irvine, jogs her father's trotter, Miss Dag, just before the first race. Sherry Indestad reined Miracle Stone in the first race.

BOTH trips of the race, a conditioned pace for non-winners of $1,000 in 1968, went in 2:09 with Bob Davenport of Galena in the sulky behind his own Dave Bloom.

The first heat saw the seven-horse field finish in a bunch at the wire, with scarcely more than two lengths between the winner and the sixth place horse. Irish Land, owned and driven by Arthur E. Ewing of Cardington was third in the first heat and was second in the second heat while Weowe owned by Indian Lane Farm and B. Williams and driven by Eddie Boyer, was third.

In the second race of the day, Ron Southall reined Abbe K. Abbe to wins in 2:11 and 2:11.3. In both heats Southall took his horse to the top at the three-quarter pole to win.

Dody Creed, owned and driven by R. K. Harper of Malega was second in the first trip and third in the second, while Heidi Way, owned and driven by Jim Hassel of Avon Lake was third in the first heat and Bye Bye Berry, owned by Harry Hughes and Homer Lewis of Washington C.H. and driven by Jackie Johns was second in the second heat.

In the first division of the third race, Quandary, owned by Tom Marsh of Richwood and driven by Tommy Leffel was first in 2:17.2. Mary's Paula, owned and driven by Harold Coder of Cardington was second and Gi Gi H., owned by W. C. and E. N. Humphrey and driven by the latter, was third.

In the second trip, Janey Irvine, daughter of Don Irvine of Chester, led the field with Miss Dag at the one-quarter, half and three-quarter marks and was on top by nearly ten lengths coming through the last turn when she broke. Miss Dag finished second in the race and Quandary, was third.

RKR, owned and driven by Jackie T. Johns of Washington C. H. was first in the first heat of the second division in 2:18 and was third in the second heat. Finishing third but placing second because of a lapped-out break at the wire was Big Boss, driven by Jim Eades. Never was placed third.

In the second heat of the race, Levester, owned by William R. and Madeline Sheahan, New York, New York, and driven by Charlie Clark, was first in 2:18. Never Say Die was second in that heat.

Starlite Wick, with Don Moon in the sulky, was first in 2:15

Cincy Reds' Poor Hitters Helping Them Win Games

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds are winning games these nights with significant help from the poorer hitters and the pinch hitters. Montreal felt the sting Wednesday night, 5-3.

But for five innings, the Reds were hardly in the game. Young Jerry Robertson, pitching in the majors for his first season, held them to four hits and no runs and turned back such batting powers as Tony Perez, Lee May and Johnny Bench.

Meanwhile, the Expos were riding a 3-0 lead grabbed in a first-inning attack.

Cincinnati's starting pitcher, Jim Maloney, broke the drought for the Reds in the sixth when he keyed a two-run burst with a solo homer. He left after seven innings for a pinch hitter, allowing only four hits.

Perez pulled the Reds even, in the first heat and second in the second trip of the third division. The second heat was won by Firey Dares in 2:16.2.

Second in the first heat was Dee Dee Rogers owned and driven by Vinal Link while Firey Dares was third. Dee Dee Rogers was third in the second heat.

Wayne Granger, 4-4, held the Expos to one hit the last two innings.

Even Cincinnati skipper Dave Bristol had words of praise for Robertson, 2-9. "He sure did in for a time. He has a sinking-type fast ball and looks good."

Savage has been handy with the bat in recent games and also has done some fancy outfielding.

"Ted's been swinging the bat very well," Bristol said. "He's been a good man for us."

The Reds knocked the Expos for 11 hits, but only in the final innings did they begin to make their count.

Rusty Staub drilled a two-run homer to lead off the Expos' three-run, three-hit attack in the first inning.

Independents Top Merchants, 7-2

The Circleville Independents topped the Circleville Merchants, 7-2 in the local slo-pitch league Wednesday night at Ted Lewis Park.

Ed Tomlinson smashed a home run for the winners while Terry Anderson got a double.

Roger Hurley tapped a homer for the Merchants and Jack Bailey copped a triple.

The winners scored seven runs on 11 hits while the Merchants got two runs on nine hits.

Tommy Aaron Heads Westchester Field

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Tommy Aaron went into today's opening round of the $250,000 Westchester Classic a new man. He finally has the winners edge.

"I'm feeling great," the quiet, bespectacled Georgian said of his Monday's victory in the Canadian Open. "It's a great sense of accomplishment. I always wanted to know how winning feels."

Aaron has waited for that feeling for eight years, and when victory finally came, it came the hard way.

Sam Snead Fights Nerves, Seems Victor

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — "Call it quits? No time—I'll play as long as these old legs and nerves can stand it," Sam Snead drawled.

The familiar coconut straw, at a jaunty angle, hid the balding pate of the 57-year-old golfing marvel. Tykes, refugees from Arnie's Army, swarmed around him for autographs. Middle-aged men in the gallery cheered their hero:

"Give 'em the devil, Sam!"

"Go get 'em, Sam!"

The seemingly ageless Slammin' Sammy, perspiration streaming in small beads down his leathery face, elbowed his way through throngs of admirers at the Westchester Country Club and jested about his newly-discovered Fountain of Youth.

He had just shot a five-under-par 67 in the pro-am prelude to the $250,000 Westchester Classic Wednesday. A few days before, he had excited the sports world by trying for the Canadian Open crown and then losing in a close playoff to Tommy Aaron.

"Putting tips? Nerves? I still fight 'em—I fight 'em like a tiger," he said. "Sure, I feel 'em out there but I grit my teeth and I say, 'You're not gonna whip me.'"

Snead, winner of more than 100 tour tournaments in a career covering more than 30 years, admitted that it's nerves—and not the legs or physical deterioration—that cuts short the career of the competitive golfer.

"Physically," Sam said, "I feel almost as strong as I ever did. From tee to green, I hit the ball as well as I did in the 1930s. It's putting that gets me. Nerves. I'm fighting 'em all the time."

Countess Cash Wins Scioto Downs Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Countess Cash won the $1,200 conditioned pace at Scioto Downs Wednesday night and paid $17.20, $8.40 and $4.40.

The winner toured the mile in 2:04 3/5 ahead of Betsie's Dream ($2.20 and $3.40) and Counsel B. ($3.60).

The 5-2 daily double combination of Meadow Dean and Midge's Boy paid $73.80. The quinella, 3-5, paid $138.30.

Attendance was 3,699. Handle was $150,512.

Orioles' McNally Wins 15th Game

Dave McNally is feeling no pressure, feeling no pain, but he does feel very lucky.

What the 26-year-old Baltimore left-hander must be wondering after running his record to 15-0 with a 4-2 victory over Kansas City Wednesday night is "How lucky can I get."

"No, I don't feel any pressure," he said. "I think probably I would feel it if I had pitched well in every game, but that hasn't been the case. I pitched badly enough to lose in six or seven games."

"I know it has to end sometime, but I'm very happy to get this far, and I'm enjoying it. I'd rather be winning like this than losing, but it's taken a lot of luck to do it."

McNally's No. 15 put him in the American League record book alongside Johnny Allen of Cleveland. McNally, with two victories at the end of the 1968 season, tied Allen's mark of 17 consecutive triumphs over two seasons, 1936-37 and Allen's record of 15 straight victories at the start of a season, 1937.

McNally now is just one triumph away from the league mark of 16 successive victories in one season set by four pitchers.

In other games, Detroit slipped by Minnesota 3-1, California tumbled Boston 4-1, the New York Yankees beat Oakland 3-2, Seattle nipped Washington 4-3 and the Chicago White Sox blasted Cleveland 11-6.

McNally, who has only eight complete games in 26 starts, needed relief again against the Royals after the first batter opened the ninth inning with a single. Eddie Watt relieved and preserved McNally's 29th victory in his last 31 decisions, including a 12-game winning streak last season when he was 22-10.

Kansas City had scored two runs off him in the first inning, but he blanked them after that while the Orioles tied on Frank Robinson's 26th homer in the sixth and went ahead on Don Buford's two-run double in the seventh.

"It's amazing you can go that long without getting shut out," McNally, with a 2.83 earned run average, said in praise of his slugging teammates. "I can remember only one time I didn't get at least two runs."

He doesn't even believe he is pitching as well as he did the first part of last season when he was 8-3, but he couldn't explain it. "I'm just not throwing the ball as well, although I don't feel any pain in my arm."

Harmon Killebrew couldn't be blamed if he felt some pain, after letting in three runs with two errors in Minnesota's loss. The first came when he let a grounder get by in the second inning, letting in one Detroit run, and the other was a wild throw in the eighth, allowing two more to score.

White Sox Smash Tribe, Win 11-7 Tilt

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Six runs are usually more than enough to guarantee a victory for Cleveland Indians' southpaw Sam McDowell, but not Wednesday night when the Chicago White Sox bombarded him for seven runs enroute to an 11-7 victory.

Five of the Chicago runs came through the efforts of third baseman Bill Melton, who scored three times and drove home two other runs. He put the game on ice in the seventh inning with a three-run homer.

"The ball Melton hit (in the seventh) was a fast ball low and inside," Indians' catcher Duke Sims said. "I tried to get (relief pitcher Horacio) Pina to get it in on his hands." The homer was Melton's 15th of the season.

McDowell was rocked for nine hits in his six innings of work as his record fell to 11-10 and the White Sox broke an eight-game losing streak.

There were some bright spots for the Indians, who blew a 5-2 lead they held after three innings.

Rookie Frank Baker had four hits in five at-bats, including a triple. Baker, recently called up from the Indians' Waterbury farm club, had 10 straight hits before joining the Tribe and has been working to overcome his major problem — "swinging at the first pitch too much."

Court House, Trace Start Grid Practice

Over 100 high school football candidates were reported to have attended the first night of physical conditioning at both Miami Trace and Washington C.H. high schools. Monday was the beginning of a three week "pre-pad" workout for the candidates.

At Miami Trace, coach John Beckley and his staff were hosts to 50 candidates in grades 10-12 while 56 candidates showed up for practice at Washington C.H. Both teams expected the number to swell after vacations.

Twelve seniors and 15 juniors were at the Panther practice, that was slightly larger than last year's turnout with 13 lettermen appearing.

Ten seniors and about 20 sophomores turned up for the WCH practice. Thirteen lettermen are expected to return by head coach Maurice Pfeiffer.

Bill Russell Quits; Auerbach To Seek Change Of Mind

BOSTON (AP) — One of the greatest eras in sports history appears ended today with the announced retirement of Bill Russell, but the Boston Celtics still hope to talk their great player-coach into changing his mind and sticking it out for one more season.

General Manager Red Auerbach announced the news which had been rumored for months — that the 35-year-old superstar plans to call it quits after leading the Celtics to 11 National Basketball Association championships in 13 years and revolutionizing the game with his defensive wizardry.

"He means it a thousand percent," Auerbach told a news conference Wednesday, "but by golly I intend to change his mind."

Russell, plagued by arthritis knees the past few years, has been eyeing movie and television possibilities more and more seriously of late, and has spent much of his time since the end of last season in Hollywood.

Wednesday night, during the taping of a Joey Bishop television show, Russell said he left basketball "because I almost got bored."

"Every time I started a game last year, I said, 'I've been through this before.'" He said he became the player he was by devoting his heart and soul to the game but "I've been playing for 25 years and that's enough time for anybody."

The show was taped in Hollywood for broadcast Thursday night.

Russell said he was planning to go into television and also said he has signed to do a film in Spain. He didn't elaborate on either, however.

Joe Namath Plays It Cool, But Admits Timing Is Off

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — "Sign my pants, Joe," squealed a teen-age miss, raising a thigh in Joe Namath's direction.

And so he did, carefully inking his full signature, Joe Willie Namath, on the frayed yellow jeans, then adding the words: "Love and peace."

And that's the atmosphere Namath is trying to maintain as he and the New York Jets approach Friday night's All-Star game in Chicago—the first test of the shaggy-haired quarterback's popularity rating following the end of his dispute with Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

"That situation is over," Namath said sharply as he strolled across the Hofstra University campus Wednesday beset by autograph hunters. "It has nothing to do with Friday night or anything else. Nothing. That's long gone."

It will actually be only two weeks gone when Namath steps out on the field Friday night for the game to be televised nationally by ABC at 9:30 p.m., EDT, and there's no denying that Namath watchers are interested in analyzing the crowd reaction as a measure of his appeal in light of the dispute revolving around his East Side night spot.

Namath is expected to start the game and work the first half before giving way to Babe Parilli, but he probably will have to go without split end George Sauer, who will be replaced by Bake Turner if his sprained ankle still is troubling him.

While the crowd's reaction to Namath's first appearance may or may not be a factor, Namath does admit that just 10 days in camp—he missed the first week—had not given him enough time to perfect his timing.

Mike Casey Injured
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mike Casey, one of the star players on the University of Kentucky basketball team, suffered a broken left leg in an auto accident Wednesday night.

Barnhill's Tops FOPA In 22-4 Rout

Barnhill's took FOPA in the only Mosquito League action Wednesday night, 22-4 at the Atwater diamond.

Paul Brown tapped two singles and a triple for FOPA and Pat Poorman had three singles.

Eric Burger smashed two doubles for the winners and Mark Ranck had one.

Paul Brown started on the mound for the policemen but was relieved by Kevin Woltz. Jim Edgington relieved Woltz. Edgington was given a rest in the last inning by Brad Rase, who finished the tilt. Together the boys fanned 11.

Steve Sabine and Mark Ranck hurled for the winners whiffing five.

Barnhill's is now 4-4 for the year.

Sutherland A Leader

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — Don Sutherland kicked four field goals, four converts and scored a touchdown for a total of 22 points to lead the Ottawa Rough Riders to a 47-15 victory over the Montreal Alouettes in a Canadian Football League game Wednesday night.

Otto Graham Just May Have A Few Tricks For The Jets

CHICAGO (AP) — If trickery is needed to upset the Joe Namath-propelled New York Jets Friday night, Coach Otto Graham of the underdog college All-Stars has plenty of football credentials to provide it.

The array of 50 hand-picked, pro-bound college seniors of last fall groomed by Graham since July 11 will be a 17-pound underdog in the 36th All-Star Game sponsored by the Chicago Tribune.

The contest, to be televised nationally via ABC at 9:30 p.m., EDT, marks the first appearance in the Soldier Field classic by an American Football League club.

Unless Graham and his quarterback trio of Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame, Cincinnati's Greg Cook and Bobby Douglass of Kansas come up with something fancy or flashy, the result may not be much different than against the National Football League champs who rolled up a 24-9-2 record in the 35 previous All-Star games.

But in his last coaching trip to Chicago, as boss of the Washington Redskins, Graham sprang a tricky slot formation to whip the Chicago Bears 38-28 at Wrigley Field in a 1968 game the Bears squeezed into the baseball season at a financial loss figuring a cinch home opener win.

A year after his 1963 All-Stars scored the last collegiate triumph in the series, a 20-17 shading of the Green Bay Packers, Graham also came up with an innovation against the Bears in the 1964 All-Star Game.

The Bears pulled off a 28-17 decision, but Graham delighted the Soldier Field crowd by using two quarterbacks at the same time, one taking the ball under the center and tossing wide to the other for another pass or run.

Otto, long-time passing star for the Cleveland Browns who was replaced as Redskins coach by Vince Lombardi, has the tools for some trick stuff of the same kind.

Quarterback Douglass, 6-foot 5, 215 pounder, is a powerful runner who throws a left handed pass. Another versatile All-Star is Iowa's Ed Podolak, listed as a running back, but who was a great pass-run quarterback for the Hawkeyes until his senior year.

With ticket sales boosted by the first Chicago display of Namath, who bombed the Baltimore Colts into stunning submission, 17-7, in the Super Bowl, Friday night's crowd may exceed 70,000.

Lulu Sabotin Says He's Off His Stride

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — "I'm not playing as well as in past years," complained Lulu Sabotin, one of Ohio's top amateur golfers.

Even if his game is a bit below par, Sabotin figures to be the favorite next week in the Ohio Public Golfers Championship tournament in Dayton.

The 39-year-old Warren fire captain won the public links title last year at Massillon. He'll be shooting for an unprecedented fourth championship when play gets under way in the 72-hole medal test Aug. 8.

GENERAL INFORMATION — This farm of 414 acres, the home of the late Crawford Fulton Hyde, is a fine livestock and grain farm, well located in a good agricultural area of South Central Ohio. The farm lends itself for division in many ways and has one and a half miles of frontage on State Route 207 and Browns Chapel Road. The main set of buildings located on Highway 207, consists of a modern frame house, also many farm buildings.
Ross County A. S. C. office lists this farm as 283 acres tillable with the following government bases: 89 acres corn base, 77 bushel yield; 25.9 acres wheat base, 38 bushel yield. Bottom land totals approximately 155 acres. Abundant water supply. Buyer will receive one-half of U. S. Government Farm Program Payment $1,607.92, also one-half share of 20 acres growing corn.
Fall seeding privileges. Farm is appraised at $85,000.00 for estate purposes.

Beginning at 10:00 A.M. prompt a large quantity of antiques, household goods and farm chattels will be sold.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

It was quite cool again during the night with temperatures ranging from the upper 50s to the lower 60s at 6 a.m. this morning.

The lowest reading at that time was 57 at Youngstown. Findlay recorded 58 and Toledo 59.

A change to cooler will set in Friday as a cold front moves across the state.

Showers and scattered thunderstorms will develop ahead of the front and will spread across the western half of Ohio by late tonight and into the eastern half late tonight and Friday. Showers will end by Friday afternoon and evening when the cold front is well east of Ohio.

The outlook for Saturday shows a pleasant day with fair and dry weather along with temperatures in the upper 70 to lower 80 degree range.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Increasing cloudiness and not as cool with scattered showers and thunderstorms west half tonight. Lows in the mid to upper 60s. Variable cloudiness and not as warm with scattered showers and thundershowers Friday.

NORTHWEST, SOUTHWEST OHIO — Increasing cloudiness and not as cool with a chance of showers of thundershowers tonight. Lows in the mid to upper 60s. Partly cloudy with a chance of showers and little temperature change Friday. Highs in the 80s. Outlook Saturday: Fair and mild.

CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHEAST OHIO — Fair and not as cool tonight. Lows in the mid 60s. Increasing cloudiness and warm with a chance of showers or thundershowers Friday. Highs in the mid to upper 80s. Outlook Saturday: Fair and mild.

8 Bridges Across Ohio River Urged

CINCINNATI (AP) — Recommendations for construction of eight more Ohio River bridges between Ohio and northern Kentucky and southeastern Indiana is the crux of a report to be released shortly by a regional planning group, the Cincinnati Enquirer said it learned Wednesday.

Such a plan by the Ohio-Kentucky-Indiana Regional Planning Authority would bring to 13 the number of spans in the Cincinnati area from upstream New Richmond, Ohio, to downstream Rising Sun, Ind., by 1990.

The O-K-I, according to the morning newspaper, will recommend that six new spans be built from the Cincinnati shoreline to funnel traffic to and from four Kentucky points—Covington, Newport, Ludlow and the Greater Cincinnati Airport in Boone County.

Another bridge site to be recommended is near New Richmond, and the eighth at Rising Sun.

The development plan is in the form of a report being prepared for publication by the Ohio-Kentucky-Indiana Regional Planning Authority, the Enquirer said.

Presently, there are five bridges between Cincinnati and the Newport-Covington areas. One of these, the C & O Bridge, was closed last November on advice of engineers who found it dangerously in need of repairs or replacement. Plans on whether the bridge will be rebuilt or repaired have not been finalized.

Nancy May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger May, Circleville, has been selected as the winner of the Ohio $50 Scholarship Award offered by the American Institute of Cooperation for excellence in cooperative farm business activities, and will soon leave home for Urbana, Ill., to attend the 41st annual A.I.C. summer session on farm business, Aug. 3-6, at the University of Illinois, Dr. Vernon E. Schneider, Institute President, announced recently.

She joins a select group of 4-H members, one boy or girl from each state, who will be honored at a special ceremony on the Awards Night program of the Institute on Monday evening, Aug. 4. She will be among more than 1,000 young farmers and rural youth scholars from all parts of the country attending the conference to swap information and experience, and to learn about farm business methods.

"The awards program and youth activities throughout the year are in charge of Dr. Walter Jacoby, A.I.C. Director of Youth Education," Dr. Schneider said.

"Nancy as well as the hundreds of other rural youth and young farmers attending the Institute, are learning the fundamentals of modern farming, supply and service purchasing, and marketing, which are essential to a satisfying career in agribusiness," Dr. Schneider added. "In addition to their own sessions, the youth will meet with adult farm business leaders in General Sessions and learn of the latest development in purchasing, marketing, price bargaining, and ways farmers are working together to improve the quality of their products, the efficiency of processing and marketing, and their income."
